Kootenay Crashes Dike at Creston; Ruins 8,000 Acres

Heat Increases Fraser Threat Causing Lulu Island Evacuation

VANCOUVER, June 7 (CP) — Swollen by inrushing mountain streams, the Kootenay River late today crashed through a second dike at Creston, 350 miles east of here flooding another 8,000-acres of rich farmland.

An army official earlier estimated that 11,000 acres were inundated when the first dike crumbled May 31.

Near-exhausted Creston dike workers during the weekend were reinforced by 100 men from the Lord Strathcona Horse Regiment, Wainwright, Alta.

THREAT GROWS

British Columbia's blazing heat wave also increased the flood threat in the Fraser Valley. About 8,000 Queensborough district residents on land-pressed Lulu Island tonight were beginning a nightly test to keep Westminster dry.

The dangerous high tide period, with the sea approaching the 14-foot level between now and Thursday, has prompted New Westminster civic and police officials to advise a voluntary evacuation. Red Cross facilities will care for the evacuees overnight, and residents may return to their homes each morning.

New Westminster is a suburb of New Westminster at the east end of Lulu Island, 12 miles south of Vancouver.

DIKES HOLDING

Elsewhere along the Fraser Valley, dikes are holding under the strain of accumulated pressure from the head-waters of the Thompson and Fraser Rivers. Reinforcements from Vancouver Island, the West Coast Mainland, and Saskatchewan's United States are rushing to relieve battle-weary dike workers. Others in Manitoba-Saskatchewan permanent force units have been ordered to be ready for a call.

ISSUES CALL

Mayor W. M. Mott of New Westminster issued an urgent appeal for at least 1,000 workers a day to meet the new crisis.

"We will be able to hold the river back if we get manpower," said Mayor Mott. "We are fully equipped with machinery and supplies but manpower is the vital link in the battle."

The water was six inches from dike-tops, and workers must raise the margin to two feet for safety.

A new report of flood damage came from Hope where the angry river flipped out a 75-foot wooden span of the Kettle bridge, tossing it into the churning water. Another span is twisting under the tremendous pressure.

Along the Fraser dikes continue to withstand the river; but worries are grim and wary about the effect of new high tides on forty angry fortresses.

FLOOD DAMAGE

The worst threat along the river is on the Yedder Canal, where six miles of a 8-mile dike protect 75 square miles of farmland.

At the mining centre of Trail 220 miles east of Vancouver, the Columbia River rose 12.3 inches in the last 24 hours. Tons of driftwood are imperiling the bridge and non-essential traffic has been forbidden. An engineers report that the cribbing at the Trail east end of the bridge is tilting and was valued yesterday for the move.

At Hedley, 46 miles up the Fraser, railwaymen are struggling to repair 300-foot gap in the line of the C.P.R. double track last week. A new trestle is being constructed. Both Canadian Pacific and C.N.R. resigned trans-Canada connection today with a shuttle bus service from Hope, the new "railhead," 100 miles east of here.

The province-wide heat wave continued today, with temperatures ranging from 78 at Vancouver to 86 at Lytton. Flood workers paused at blazing skies and turned back to their toil on the dikes.

Pilots Say Air Strip Now Spongy

Floods May Alter Creston Air Service

VANCOUVER, June 7 (CP)—Reports from Royal Canadian Air Force pilots landing supplies and equipment today at flood-stricken Creston, on the south end of Kootenay Lake indicated the grass landing strip there is becoming spongy and may become unserviceable.

If landings become impossible at Creston, further supplies will have to be ferried in nearby Duck Lake, by hospitalian Canso aircraft. This alternative means discharging by the northeast, and an 11-mile road trip to the army base in the village. A second alternative is to land at Cranbrook and ship materials by civilian road transport.

During flying operations to Trail today, one of the loads handled by the Lodestar transports was five tons of chicken feed ordered by starving farms in the area.

R.C.A.F. during the day moved 6,000 sandbags, two 400-pound tents, 56 pounds of medical supplies and five chickens feed to the Trail-Creston area.

One of the passengers on the daily Fraser Valley reconnaissance flight was Arthur P. Mercer, a member of the flood control committee.

Flowers Bloom on City Light Standards

Famed hanging flower baskets were put up overnight on between 550 and 600 standards on Victoria's main streets to grace the city yesterday. Admiring the flowers on the Causeway is Miss Gloria Wilbur from Montreal, who is visiting Mrs. R. Hunt, wife of Lieut.-Col. R. Hunt, of 23 Allbritt Street. There are two colour types this year—red and pink. The flowers are just starting to blossom and will develop throughout the Summer to keep baskets colorful until they are taken down in September.

U.S. Workers Ignore Rule Aid Canadians

NEW WESTMINSTER, June 7 (CP)—United States workers are still getting in to help their Canadian neighbors on the soggy stretches of Yedder Canal dikes today, despite Canadian immigration regulations keeping them out.

More than 60 volunteers were turned back at the border Saturday after Canadian officials received instructions by telephone product. Any other workers were held up for precious daylight minutes, and some turned back in disgust.

"What a system," commented one United States worker. "That dike guards everything we possess, and they won't let us help."

But other persistent flood-fighters evolved a system. They roared through in trucks and cars.

"We're going visiting at Yarrow," they yelled. "See you in the morning."

Canadian officials happily waved them through.

In Vancouver Donald N McDowell, acting commissioner of immigration, tonight denied United States workers who attempted to cross the border had been detained and turned back.

"His said they had been warned not to return through cheaper zones where floods might cut off transportation facilities."

Russia Bids To Observe War in East

LAKE SUCCESS, June 7 (CP)—Russia today made a bid to send military observers to Palestine but, acting on the request of its mediator to the Holy Land, the United Nations Security Council again halted discussion on the four-week truce proposal.

Just after Paris Et Khourt of Syria, council president for June, read the text of a brief communication from Count Folke Bernadotte, Andrei Gromyko of Russia introduced the matter of the military mission as outlined in the cease-fire proposal adopted May 29.

The mediator's message to Et Khourt said he hoped to report by Wednesday on the success or failure of his mission to effect a four-week cease-fire between Arabs and Jews in Palestine. Gromyko said he had learned that several countries had been approached to send military observers to serve with the truce commission.

The Russian delegate said his understanding of the pertinent clause in the truce proposal was that countries which were to serve on this mission would be determined by the council. In that case the Soviet Union was ready to send her observers along with those of other countries "directly concerned" with carrying out the truce resolution.

Use Seaborne Army On Israeli Positions

CAIRO, June 7 (AP.—Egyptian commanders landed seaborne reinforcements in an attempt to break the noose Israeli troops have thrown around Egyptian Infantry and armoured units in a Tel Aviv dispatch said tonight.

Perhaps 1,000 of King Farouk's troops—a fifth of the Egyptian force which threatened Tel Aviv from the south—are cut off by the trap.

The account quoted persons returning from the front as saying at least one and possibly several Egyptian ships took part in the warehouse operation. Isfud is the coast 31 miles south of Tel Aviv, the capital of Israel.

Jewish leaders previously announced their troops had blunted an Arab thrust to Tel Aviv from the northeast.

One informant in Tel Aviv said the Arabs had established still a third position threatening the capital. At one point those Arab units were only eight miles east of the city.

Israeli units are exerting enough pressure to hold the Arabs along a 12-mile front reaching from Ez Zakariya to Ras Al Ain, the informant said.

Inconclusive fighting broke out along the Jerusalem-Tel Aviv road again today at Latrun, 14 miles west of Jerusalem. The Holy City itself was rocked by mortar and artillery fire. The Arab Legion claimed to be answering Israeli fire at a ratio of ten shells for one.

Heavy fighting occurred in the "thumb" of Palestine north of the Sea of Galilee. Syrian and Lebanese troops drove into the area from two sides.

Mayor Quits Quebec Party

CHAMBLY BASIN, Que., June 7 (CP)—Hormidas Beique, mayor of Chambly Basin and former chief organizer for Premier Duplessis' Union Nationale Party, tonight announced his resignation from the party.

He said he had resigned "on a question of principle."

German Prime Ministers Will Choose Future Rule

LONDON, June 7 (Reuters)—The Prime Ministers of the 11 West German states today face the biggest decision any German has had to make since the end of the war.

They will be called upon to tell the three Western occupying powers whether they are willing to call a West German Constituent Assembly on the terms laid down in the recommendations of the London Six-Power Conference.

In other words, they have to choose whether to seize the chance of restoring a German political government with definite prospects of ending military government and recovering internal sovereignty, at the price of formally accepting the temporary partition of their country.

There is little doubt that all 11 men are willing to take the chance in some form.

Public opinion in Western Germany has increasingly realized that partition is a fact, as the specific partite Allied institutions which have taken shape in the three Western and Western occupation zones have broken down.

All major parties except the Communists have accordingly come out in recent weeks in favor of a West German Parliament and provisional Government in some form.

There are considerable differences in the manner in which the different parties envisage the creation of a West German state, and these are likely to be reflected first in the Premiers' reaction to the London decisions, and then in the state parliaments.

The Christian Democrats, who have majority control in Bavaria and the three states of the French zone (Rhineland Palatinate South Wurttemberg and South Baden) are the strongest single party in North Rhine-Westphalia have indicated their favor setting up a constituent assembly whose members would not be elected, but designated by the state parliaments in proportion to party strength.

The Liberals or Free Democrats, an anti-Socialist party which has been drawing the Protestant and anti-Prussian votes from the Christian Democrats, have been the first clearly to support a constituent assembly on Allied terms.

But they are expected to insist on election, as are the Social Democrats.

Drew Government Wins In Ontario Elections; C.C.F. Makes Big Gains

Criticizes Socialism

TORONTO, June 7 (CP)—Premier Drew said tonight he believes the Progressive Conservative Party won "wider representation" despite its election losses to the C.C.F.

He spoke a few hours after unofficial returns showed the opposition C.C.F. candidate W. H. Temple, in Toronto High Park.

"Here seats to the North and East give us wider representation and is more expressed in the point of the province," he said.

He reiterated the confidence in the future of Ontario but warned against the inroads of Communism where accorded "only through Socialism."

"Socialists now have the responsibility of placing before the legislature much that they said in the campaign. That is a healthy thing."

C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe said in a radio address that the results of the Ontario election reflect "growing demand for more effective action in housing health services and planned development of natural resources."

Housing," he said, "particularly calls for effective action by a government in power." The C.C.F. will co-operate to the limit in any program to build more houses for more people.

"This is the beginning in the march to elect a Socialist government. Many who didn't vote C.C.F. today will vote C.C.F. in the next election."

In Owen Sound, Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver called upon the people of Ontario particularly those who voted Liberal—to remember their duty to recognize the Government as a properly constituted one.

"We will have a chance to prove working and the people over the days that lie ahead," he said.

Light Showers Little Help To Firefighters

TORONTO, June 7 (CP)—Showers sprinkled scattered portions of Northern Ontario's forest fire area yesterday but did little more than raise the hopes of tired firefighters for a drenching rain to give the crews real relief help in the battle against the flames.

Forestry officials expressed regret that nothing less than a general inch-and-a-half rainfall would have any definite effect on the fires.

Firefighting forces were despatched against more than a dozen new outbreaks which developed during the week-end throughout the vast expanse of flaming or threatened woodland extending from North-western Quebec to Eastern Manitoba.

The latest blaze to rave out of control was in Quebec's Dublin Township where a fire was burning over 50 square miles. This brought an order to shut off from all but essential travel some 30,000 square miles extending 300 miles along the Ontario Quebec and CNR main lines.

The travel embargo now covers 116,000 square miles, including 80,000 in Ontario, an area representing more land than in the whole of the British Isles.

The Mississagi and Chapleau fires are still the big fires of the hot spots. The Chapleau fire was active yesterday and while the Mississagi fire was generally quiet.

Lands and Forests Department officials reported vast numbers of deer, moose, bear, fox and other wildlife driven out of the raging flames.

They also disclosed that in Ontario there have been 600 fires since Spring, of which about 14 have attained considerable size.

Benes Resigns Over Signing Of Constitution

PRAGUE, June 7 (AP)—Edvard Benes, Czech-to-Slovakia's last strong link with the West, resigned as president today rather than approve a new constitution drawn up by the Communist Government. President Klement Gottwald was regarded as the leading choice to succeed him.

Benes, 64, had held the post for 11 years in two terms.

The resignation was accepted at a special meeting of the Cabinet and was announced shortly after. A short letter made public by the President said Benes had decided May 4 to resign and had so informed Gottwald. The letter said:

"At the time we discussed my decision and all the problems of the whole political situation and I told you also that my doctors had advised me to bred my present condition of health."

Benes expressed the wish that the people and their Government shall live together and work together in harmony, in peace and friendship, and that they should vouchsafe for everyone liberty and use that liberty honourably.

The wording mild as it was, carried the implication that Benes disapproved of the constitution and of the recent Communist-dominated single ticket election. An unopposed hand-picked slate for Parliament was approved May 30 by voters in a flat yes-or-no election.

Majority Reduced

TORONTO, June 7 (CP)—Ontario's Progressive, Conservative Government was re-elected tonight but Premier Drew went down to personal defeat.

The C.C.F. made big gains, sharply reducing the Progressive Conservative majority, and reduced the Liberal Party as official Opposition.

Greatest C.C.F. strength was shown in the 17 Toronto and York ridings, none of which had C.C.F. representation in the last Legislature. Eleven of the 17 went to the C.C.F. tonight all wrested from the Conservatives.

Two of the Premier's 18 Cabinet officers suffered defeat—one to a C.C.F. candidate, the other to a Liberal.

Final standings showed 84 Progressive Conservatives elected, 22 C.C.F. members, 12 Liberals, two Labor-Progressive Party members and one Liberal-Labor candidate.

In the last election—June 4, 1945—Progressive Conservatives won 88 seats, the C.C.F. 8, Liberals 11, Labor-Progressive 3, Liberal-Labor candidates 2, independent Labor 1, and Independent 1.

VOTE HEAVY

The vote was bigger than expected. The final count was sure to come close to the 1945 record of 1,705,788 and might even exceed it.

Premier Drew lost in Ontario High Park riding to the C.C.F candidate, of W. H. Temple, 30-year-old war Northern Ontario's forest fire area veteran, who polled 11,041 votes to the Premier's 10,346, with N. Bryce, Liberal candidate, in the three-way fight, polling 4,334. Mr. Temple attacked the Government's handling of the Labour Act revisions last year.

The only woman elected was Miss Agnes Macphail, who in 1921 became the first woman ever elected to the Legislature. She was defeated in 1940, first Progressive Conservative, Miss Macphail ran as an Independent Conservative candidate was again in the Toronto ridings they represented in the last Legislature. They are J. B. Salsberg and A. A. MacLeod. Their party did not contest any other ridings.

MINISTERS DEFEATED

The two Cabinet Ministers defeated are Provincial Secretary Michener and W. G. Wenzel, Minister without Portfolio. Mr. Michener was ousted by William Dennison, C.C.F., in Halton, and David Mc. Webster by Campbell Caldor, Liberal, in London.

Cutting deeply into the big majority held by the Progressive Conservatives in the last Legislature, the C.C.F. hit hardest in the 21 Toronto ridings, 13 of which saw Progressive Conservative victories in 1945.

The C.C.F. won 11 of the 17 seats the Government forces recalled Liberal and the Labor-Progressive Party scored repeat victories in the same two.

C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe, who did not have a seat in the last Legislature, was elected in York South, Liberal Leader Farquhar Oliver was re-election in Grey South.

Dominican Envoy Angry Wants Apology or Duel

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP)—Trujillo Dominican External Affairs Department is ask it to take diplomatic action against Mr. Rickert. He said he had not, referring to Mr. Rickert's remarks about squirting.

The Dominican language newspaper, La Droit, quoted an official as saying the Canadian Government was anxious to have Dr Rodriguez Pastoriza, Ambassador of Ecuador, recalled.

The ambassador recently protested to the department when officials of the R.C.M.P. raided a Ottawa house to investigate reports that two of his dogs had been beaten to death.

A spokesman said the "insulting" incident occurred when Mr. Rickert made 6 just about the case of the dogs.

Retailers Losing Money On Butter Flown to City

Butter brought in by air is easing Victoria's shortage, but wholesalers and retailers are losing money on the transaction.

Trans-Canada Airlines yesterday reported arrival of 108 boxes of butter containing 3,742 pounds.

One wholesale manager said his firm received the first air shipment of better from Calgary yesterday. "They shouldn't be any more of it from now on," he said.

Other wholesale wholesalers were awaiting word from their head offices.

Despite an emergency silk-cord Government bonus, wholesalers are still losing money, one manager reported. "We're absorbing the increased freight," he said. Air freight costs 9 cents a pound.

Several Independent retailers brought in butter independently by air, expecting a boost in the retail ceiling of 73 cents a pound. They were caught short when Prices Board authorities failed to grant an increase.

One retailer claimed he is selling butter at a loss of 13 cents a pound. "We're keeping it for our regular customers," he said.

Hot Weather Boosts Level Of Columbia

PORTLAND, Ore., June 7 (CP) — Hot weather sent the snow-fed Columbia River surging up toward a third flood crest today.

The Weather Bureau warned the yet halfway through a flood that already has claimed 26 lives, left 60,000 homeless and caused an estimated $140,000,000 damage.

Forecasters could not yet say whether the new crest would climb past the first surge that reached 30.2 feet—12.2 over flood level—shortly after destroying Vanport eight days ago.

The Red Cross today listed 718 persons still unlocated since the dike of 18,700 was shattered, but cautioned this did not mean the Vanport toll would climb from the two known dead in that disaster.

Officials appealed for those on the list to register with the Red Cross. Earlier 23 were listed. Most have reported their safety since.

The river, now in its 18th day of flood, battered at dikes at the 29.5-foot level today—14.8 feet above flood stage.

It will drop a few inches in the next two days. Then it will begin climbing toward a crest as yet unsighted.

TO TRANSFER FACTORIES

NANKING, June 7 (AP)—Premier Wong Wen-Hao announced his intention today to transfer North China factories to the South—out of Chinese Communist reach—and to bolster Government forces in the civil war.

The new premier also outlined plans to pay military costs with American funds. The $463,000,000 China aid bill passed by Congress provided that $125,000,000 may be spent for military purposes.

Manitoba Army Group Ordered to Flood Area

EDMONTON, June 7 (CP)—Western Army Command Headquarters tonight announced that 340 officers and 410 men of Prairie Command have come under control of Western Command and will be dispatched to the Fraser Valley flood area as soon as possible.

The troops come from units stationed at Rivers, Man., and Camp Shilo, Man., will be moved to Calgary and transported from there by air to Vancouver under present plans. However, if arrangements can be made, they will be transported by rail through the United States. A move through the United States would be faster, an army spokesman said.

The troops will be self-supporting with the exception of food supplies, maintaining their own communications and transportation equipment. It is expected they will be in the Fraser Valley area anywhere from ten days to three weeks after they will assist in rescue and clean-up work.

A survey is being conducted throughout Western Command to arrive at the maximum number of active force personnel which can stand by ready to move into British Columbia at any time.

Says Rail Line To Open Soon

OTTAWA June 7 (CP). — Transport Minister Chevrier said in the Commons today combined rail-highway transport between Calgary and Vancouver should be opened early this week.

The minister said the C.N.R. hoped to have a complete line to Vancouver by June 10.

The C.P.R. expected to have a line by June 16 with complete service restored a few days later.

Town Damaged During Gale

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., June 7 (CP)—Heavy damage was left today in the wake of a gale of cyclonic proportions that struck this town 55 miles west of Winnipeg at the Sunday supper hour.

The wind and rain flattened a number of small buildings disrupted telephone and power circuits, tore off a portion of the tin roof of the Collegiate and ripped up big trees.

The main end of Portage was most seriously affected. A number of streets in the district were closed to traffic when trees spilled across them. The wind, approaching from the northwest reached a velocity of about 75 miles an hour.

A part of the Collegiate's tin roof was ripped way and the roof of the building housing the Liquor Commission store also suffered damage. Shingles were ripped from the roofs of numerous private homes.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police said that there had been no reports of persons being injured. The storm lasted about 15 minutes with the full fury of it being condensed into a stretch of six or seven minutes.

Tax Plan to Aid Farmers, Fishermen

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP) — Farmers and fishermen are to be permitted to average out their income over five years for income tax purposes Finance Minister Abbott announced in the Commons tonight.

At present they may average income on a three-year basis. The purpose of this arrangement has been to level out fluctuations in income so that they would not suffer if a good year were followed by a poor one.

Mr. Abbott said the Government's new plan will be simpler than the existing one.

May Arrest Two Voters

TORONTO, June 7 (CP)—Mrs. Edith Probert, Toronto-St. Patrick's returning officer, said forms have been sworn out for the arrest of two men for impersonation at a polling booth in today's Provincial election.

The action followed a complaint by John Oaler, CCF candidate. He said one man masqueraded a demobilized-invalid and the other a shift worker, who was in bed at the time.

Mrs. Probert said a woman was in the booth at the time who knew of the masqueradings, but did not speak "until it was too late."

Mrs. Probert ordered the remaining 300 voters in the subdivision to swear they were not impersonating anyone.

Commons Told Of Car Prices

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP)—D. King Mason (P.C., St. John-Albert) inquired in the Commons today why British-made automobiles of the same model sell for $1,300 in the United States and $1,800 in Canada.

Finance Minister Abbott said he did not know but thought it might be through application of Canadian dumping duties—aimed at goods which sell for less in Canada than in the country of manufacture.

In his budget, Mr. Abbott proposed to remove the mandatory feature of these duties.

Scottish Officers Recall "D" Day Normandy Landings

—Colonist Photo

SENIOR officers of The Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), all veterans of the Seventh Infantry Brigade's "D"-Day landings on shrill-pitched Norman beachhead June 6, 1944, recalled events at second annual dinner Sunday at Pioneer Reserve officer emphasized yesterday that all personnel must report, as the Block Armory has morning. Unless they have a good reason for staying at home they will be in the fond kind by receipt.

Capt. J. B. Edmondson, administration and training officer, said yesterday that firms wishing to retain the services of employees who belong to the reserve army must contact the commanding officers of their units and obtain permission. Otherwise the men must respond to the emergency call.

"Of course we don't intend to work any hardship on anybody," he added. "Men who operate a one-man business, men who have some kind of serious family trouble, or men engaged in essential industry, will not be called upon to serve in the flood area."

MUST REPORT

However, they must report to Bay Street Armoury.

Yesterday's party paraded at 9 a.m. and sailed at noon aboard the naval auxiliary vessel Laymore. One party went to Pitt Meadows and one party to Mission.

Included in the contingent were officers and men of The Canadian Scottish, 5th B.C. Coast Brigade, 12th Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C., and 8 Area Signals, from Victoria, and 66th Light Anti-Aircraft, from Courtenay and Nanaimo.

Today's contingent, expected to be even larger, will be under the command of Major Peter Ramsay.

Men not at present on the reserve will be signed on for the duration of the emergency.

Four Victoria members of the Volunteer Aid Detachment left on the midnight boat Monday to aid in evacuation at Mission and Abbotsford. They were Mrs. V. Thistle, Mrs. J. Chadderton, Miss Norma Hocking and Miss Barbara Marlten.

At Heymour, Red Cross public relations officer in Victoria, said others may leave today. V.A.D.'s and registered nurses are standing by.

The army yesterday issued an urgent appeal for sacks to serve as anchorage. Thousands of sacks are piling up at Bay Street Armouries. Still more are needed.

In Ottawa, Premier Byron Johnson discussed British Columbia's flood damage and rehabilitation problem with Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, but declined to mention details of the talk. Premier Johnson was sworn in as minister. Prime Minister Mackenzie King, The Canadian Press reported.

Mailing of City Tax Notices Expected to Start This Week

The city's annual bills to taxpayers will be mailed out this month.

Mailing of the tax notices is expected to start this week and be completed in about a month, according to Assessor-Collector H. G. Allan.

Ratepayers can get a percentage rebate on their taxes by paying in full by September 1, but will pay penalties for payment after October 4. There is no rebate or penalty on taxes paid in September.

Mr. Allan said the refund is 4 per cent interest per annum on the tax bill on the period between the date the bill is paid and October 1.

Penalties for late payment increase from 1 per cent to a 6 per cent maximum.

There is a penalty of 1 per cent on bills paid after October 4. An additional 1 per cent penalty is added November 2 and another 1 per cent on November 18. Another 2 per cent is tacked on after December 2.

VANDALS IN CAMP

Members of the St. John's Boy Scout group are becoming very discouraged about the business of camping.

Over the week-end a group of five went to the camp at Albion Road, near Langford. For the second consecutive time the Scout camp had been broken into by vandals, this time while the Scouts were assisting in distribution of pamphlets at Beacon Hill Park Sunday afternoon.

At the camp they found clothing had been burned and other personal effects had been thrown into a small stream nearby.

JUNE FLOWER SHOW

The June flower show, sponsored by the Victoria Horticultural Society, opens Tuesday, June 15, at 3 p.m. at the Crystal Garden. It is an annual two-day show of roses, perennials, iris and the many beautiful flowers that fill Victoria's gardens at this season of the year.

The large number of competitive classes will provide a wide range of choice for exhibitors and will include classes for small fruits and vegetables.

The trophies at stake include R. A. Nicholson Trophy, the Haysmith Challenge Cup and the Aggregate Trophy for the show.

Tea will be served by the Women's Auxiliary each afternoon of the show from 3 to 5, proceeds to go for flood relief.

ADDRESSES GYROS

The value of handwriting in determining the writer's character and personality, and serving a useful purpose in criminology was emphasized by grapho-analyst Bruce Elliott in an address to the Gyro Club yesterday at Lougheed's Banquet Club.

Mr. Elliott stated that handwriting can determine the type of vocation to which a person is best suited. Through grapho-analysis, he said, it is possible to determine the type of person best adapted to a particular vocation.

PRIORY ROBBED

Sister Mary Angela, of St. Mary's Priory, reported to city police yesterday that a small quantity of money had been stolen from rooms in the building overnight.

Sister Angela gave police a good description of a man she saw in a corridor early yesterday morning named in the board of governors.

Total amount missing she said was about $12.

Recruits Needed by Reserve Army As Large Unit Sails for Flood Area

Almost anyone can join the army today—provided red tape

Victoria reserve army units announced yesterday that they will accept men between 18 and 45 for flood service — but they'd have to hurry. Reserve army soldiers and flood-fighting recruits will assemble at Bay Street Armoury at 9 a.m. today, ready to sail immediately for the danger area.

Yesterday a composite unit of 300 officers and men under Lt.-Col. R. D. Travis, commanding officer of The Canadian Scottish, left for the Fraser River.

Victoria Drama Festival Gets Off to Good Start

Victoria's first postwar community drama festival got off to a good start last evening, when three contrasting one-act plays were adjudicated by Miss Dorothy Somerset, director of dramatics at the University of British Columbia and director of the U.B.C. summer School of the Theatre. An enthusiastic audience at the Victoria High School auditorium listened with keen interest as Miss Somerset gave a detailed and enlightening adjudication of the opening program.

Of the first play, "The Crimson Coconut," by Ian Hay Beith, presented by the Alberni District High School Drama Club, the characterization was good, but for a play of this type, the pace was too slow. Described as a combination of farce and melodrama, Miss Somerset felt that this group made an excellent attempt at capturing the mood, but the slowness of pace gave the audience time to realize the complete impossibility. Ronald McLean as Robert the waiter had a good voice and moved well on the stage. Bruce Mowat as Jack Pincher the detective lacked a sense of hurry and excitement, his diction was sloppy, and his sense of timing good. Neil Mandel portrayed a middle-aged man well with his airs and tentisms, despite a tendency to shout at times. June Rayner as Nancy, his daughter, had a good feeling for pantomime, while Ole Oberlands, played by Vernon Finch and Joan Brown picked up the pace considerably, and the play ended with a flourish. The director was B. C. Gwynne.

The second play "The First Dress Suit," by Russell Medcraft, was presented by Mt. Tolmie College, directed by Brother David L. Phillips. The adjudicator felt the play itself left a good deal to be desired, since there was very little stage business for two of the characters to do. This tended to make the players talk at each other, rather than converse. John Ashworth as Teddy Harding, the young man who has become the proud possessor of his first dress suit, to be worn at his sister's wedding, was well in character, showed good narration in voice and was convincing. His mother, played by Peter Hinchcliffe gave a neat feeling of poise, direction and considering that the playwright had not given the mother much to do, the portrayal was congratulated upon his portrayal of that role. Betty Harding was played by Cecil Zeide and Roddy Pearce, was the bridegroom-to-be. Jennifer Drake, David Lawton was the stage manager.

The third play, an abridged version of Goldsmith's "Stoo Stoogs to Conquer," Miss Somerset felt suffered in the shortening. In that the play intended to be all highlights, with no time to build up to climaxes or to develop characterization. She commended the excellent effect obtained with a minimum of properties, and the sensitive artistry of the production. It was presented by St. Barnabas Players, directed by Miss Margot Gordon. Mr Hardcastle, played by Jack Anthony, was a good piece of characterization. Joan Norman as Mrs. Hardcastle was praised for nice timing. Brian Terry as Tony Lumpkin was described as "delightful" for his sense of comedy. Perle Alaric as Kate Hardcastle had a teasing quality in her voice and manner in her scenes with Charles Marlow and Mary Butters as Constance received plaudits for her clarity of diction and nice stage movement. Elsie Watson as Pimple, the maid, portrayed her small role well. Ernest Lemon and Ronald Wilson, as George Hastings and Charles Marlow, were both rather inclined to force their pace at times, but the play as a whole was an artistic well-acted production.

Mr. Robert Holland opened the festival, with Alderman Duncan MacTavish bringing greetings from the City Council; Mrs. Reginald Nash and Mrs. Doreen Radcliff, members of the Victoria Opera Company, sang two groups of arias, accompanied by Shirley Anderson. The festival will continue all week, the performances beginning at eight o'clock, at the Victoria High School.

Public Must Co-operate For Health Plan—Pearson

Unnecessary hospitalization will be prevented under British Columbia's compulsory hospital insurance plan, Health and Welfare Minister George S. Pearson said in a radio speech over a provincial network last night.

"We must have full co-operation if this splendid humanitarian plan is to be made a success," he told listeners. "Do not forget that it is for our benefit and do your best to make it the best plan possible."

Cost of hospitalization, Mr. Pearson said, would be met by payment of annual premiums, probably in monthly or semi-annual instalments.

Premiums had not yet been fixed, but it was expected that they would not reach the maximum $33 limit set by statute. There would be three classifications, single persons over 18 years of age, man and wife, and heads of families with more than one dependent.

ALL MUST REGISTER

All persons residing in the province for more than six months will be required to register, Mr. Pearson noted, and those who can show the hospital commissioner that they have adequate protection for themselves and dependents will be exempted from participation in the Government scheme. Persons who register into contracts with private companies which do not provide adequate protection will be required to join the Government scheme.

In addition, the minister warned:

Benefits under the plan will include full hospital services on a public ward level, Mr. Pearson explained, and will include operating room, X-ray, and special diagnostic services which are usually provided as a part of hospitalization.

The Welfare Department will pay the premiums of those receiving mothers allowance, old-age pensions and social assistance.

Three interlocking funds will be set up to pay for the operation of the hospital plan, and to ensure support for hospital construction.

The hospital insurance fund will receive all premiums, municipal and Provincial per diem grants, and the greater part of revenue received from the amusement tax.

A stabilization fund will receive $2,000,000 credit from the Provincial insurance fund and a hospital building fund will supply repayment on loans to individual hospitals for construction of additional buildings.

Mr. Pearson pledged his aiding hospital construction is not satisfactory to the Province. Mr. Pearson said, and pre Government hopes to obtain more liberal terms from Ottawa.

Inquest Today Into Death Of A. R. Green

A coroner's inquest will be held this morning in connection with the death on Saturday of A. R. Green, aged 71 years, 3333 Shelbourne Street, city police reported yesterday.

Police said Mr. Green was in collision with a car at the intersection of Douglas and Cormorant Streets on January 14 of this year. He suffered a dislocated and fractured left ankle and had been in hospital since the accident.

Mr. Green died in the Department of Veterans Affairs Hospital.

Half-Way Mark Believed Hit By Relief Fund

Week-end collections in aid of Victoria's $100,000 British Columbia Flood Fund are expected to boost the sum previously reported to more than $50,000.

More than $38,000 had been collected by late Saturday. Final total to date will not be known until late today when bank, city hall and clearing house figures are made known. Pay-roll deductions, authorized, by thousands of employees of Greater Victoria firms, will not be known until about the middle of the month.

Meanwhile in Vancouver the provincial fund was reported to have passed the $50,000 mark. Nowere with new disasters occurring daily on the Fraser, Thompson and Columbia Rivers observers have estimated that the present $1,000,000 appeal will only partially meet emergency needs of dispossessed victims.

Latest organization to join the ranks of serve relief funds for the fund was the Victoria Gyro Club. Yesterday president Bill Bond, announcing a $500 donation, said the Musicians' Union were also anxious to do their share in the flood relief program. In mind, he said, was a "Parade of Bands" to be sponsored by a Victoria organization.

Two More Saanich Playgrounds To Operate Under Supervision

Two additional playgrounds in Saanich—at Cedar Hill and Gordon Head Camp—raise to ten the total of playgrounds scheduled to operate during July and August under supervision, it was reported by Saanich Recreational Council last night.

H. H. Dawson was appointed head of the ten parks operating under the Saanich scheme and planned along the same lines as Victoria's playgrounds. D. C. Orme will head the newly-organized Gordon Head Camp's playground.

Tennis classes for children over age ten will be held at the hard courts adjacent to the Legislative Buildings. Supervised play, involving all other sports, will begin July 12 and carry on until August 20, it was learned yesterday. Swimming, under the direction of Edward Kaiser, will take place at the Crystal Garden.

More than 20 representatives of the Saanich playgrounds committee reported on Winter activities carried on to raise money to finance the 1948 play schedule. R. D. Sheehit, sports convener, said that organized sports as taught during the Summer, will be carried on into the Winter.

Prizes for grants to all amateur contestants topping their class at the Qu'Appelle Park Playground Committee's amateur night in Tillicum School June 18, announced Mrs. P. Shaw. The Tolmie Park Playground Committee will hold a benefit dance in the Hall on Douglas Street on June 17. Mrs. J. K. Balcombe reported on the list of food items stamped from the 6 per cent sales tax in his May 15 budget.

GLUCOSE EXEMPTED

OTTAWA, June 8 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott today added glucose to the list of food items exempted from the 6 per cent sales tax in his May 15 budget.

Mr. Abbott said glucose is used in the making of jams. He made the change in the Excise Tax Act when it was under study in the Commons.

Ontario Government Back With Some Vacant Saddles

THE Progressive Conservative Government of Premier George Drew was returned to office in the Ontario general election yesterday with a smaller majority—and the loss of some Cabinet seats, including that of its leader in Toronto-High Park. The C.C.F. ran in second place, picking up most of the seats the Conservatives dropped; with Liberals in the third position with insignificant change in their House standing. Labor-Progressive candidates hold two seats, while one Liberal-Labor nominee was still in the running at a late hour last evening.

Requiring 47 seats in a Legislature of 90, Premier Drew fed his party to a safe victory. In spite of his personal defeat, with 48 seats conceded, and a possible total of 54 if the progress count of ballots was substantiated. The C.C.F. at the same hour held 16 seats and were leading in four others, making that party the official opposition. Liberals had been elected in 11 places and led in two others. W. H. Temple, C.C.F. nominee in High Park, defeated Premier Drew. E. B. Jolliffe, C.C.F. leader, regained in York South the seat he surrendered at the last election. Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader, won in Grey South.

The personal defeat of Col. Drew was probably the chief upset of the polling, although to some extent that result had been predicted in Toronto before the balloting. Although C.C.F. candidates gained heavily from Government supporters in the test, a tally of the total votes cast indicated 500,000 fewer voters went to the polls than in 1945.

Even Rivers Must Have Room to Breathe

WHILE British Columbia's flood relief fund grows, and all available agencies are combining to see what can be done to help hundreds of dispossessed families in the waterlogged delta lands, it is not too early to consider why so much damage has been caused by the annual June run-off of snow waters, comparably at their peak in half a century. The Fraser River today is not the same watercourse it was in 1894. There have been riparian changes for many miles from its mouth due to human settlement.

It is in point to ask if the reclamation schemes so vigorously indulged in during the 1910-1926 period were always wise from an engineering standpoint, if the natural breathing spaces of the river in flood time have not been taken away too far, too strict a control enforced by dikes and other means along its banks? Presumably in other times the Fraser flooded every year as Spring turned into Summer, as it does today. Yet the limited populations of those days were not so disastrously affected.

In any river system, and British Columbia has five major systems, natural overflow basins are like balancing reservoirs. Into them the river spills its flood waters, to take them back when pressure has been lessened in the run-off from the hills. The river chose such locations, and where man obstructs them he does so at his peril. The human conditions, of course, are not exactly parallel today and fifty years or so ago; but major floods like those current in British Columbia must have some topographical and physical reasons. The larger the river, the more it must have room to breathe.

Renovation of City Hall Should Be Helpful

IN view of the chaotic state of the building market, it is probably wise to forget about a palatial new City Hall and to concentrate instead on making do with what is available. Victoria taxpayers are not likely to object. The times are distinctly unfavorable for a large and expensive new civil administrative building.

Had the proposed deal to sell the City Hall site gone through, circumstances might have warranted such an investment, albeit it would have been piled on top of other costs the City will be forced to meet in the near future. Now that that proposal is suspended, modernization of the present civic headquarters would seem to be the best answer to the demand for improved office conditions.

The community has outgrown the City Hall as it stands, that much is generally recognized. Great inconvenience and inadequate facilities make administration difficult, but the municipal coat must be cut according to the cloth and these days it has to be stretched to cover many deficiencies.

The suggestion that $100,000 should be sought next year to provide for alterations that would make the present City Hall building suitable for some years to come should serve the case. This is about all, the civic taxpayers can stand, in view of major commitments in the near future.

BUS SERVICE

Sir,—Merely to consider a fare increase for buses would seem insufficient at this time. What Greater Victoria requires is an adequate service at the most reasonable rates possible. Part of the cause for the request for greatly increased fares arises from the uneconomic routes and services agreed to in effect by the City Council for municipal authorities. Thus we are long stretches of route where the buses seldom carry more than a handful of passengers and where the cruises could be curtailed or the schedules reduced without hardship, while the congestion in other parts is so bad that it is not unusual for even standing room to be unobtainable. Officials of the B.C. Electric state that they can give more and better service if they are permitted to revise the routes in accordance with experience. I suggest that they be given a chance to do this before any increase in fares is considered. The municipal authorities should be willing to make some expenditures that might be required on certain roads in order to facilitate the use of economic routes by the buses. If this is not done I am afraid this will not be the last time we shall face a request for higher fares.

FLOOD PREVENTION

Sir,—Daily news from the flood areas is a continual repetition of one thing, dikes are just about giving way, have collapsed or the land is inundated and the toll and wealth and homes of people are drifting away with the valuable surface soil to a useless grave in the Pacific Ocean.

This is no new experience in human history, almost every land from primitive days has had its rapid floods, but it is a surprise that in a new modern, scientific country like Canada, we are found so unprepared for this present flooding catastrophe.

Dikes are a very old and prehistoric plan of human invention to check floods, and it works well, up to a point of perfection; but it is not a permanent plan, or always a preventative, for it needs the care, attention and supervision of human energy to keep it effective. The best-built dikes are not, in themselves, a remedy for flooding. They are only a temporary expedient. In a potential, ever-present danger; but we have today sufficient knowledge and engineering skill to prevent flooding. But, governments and people alike gamble with the chance they can get away with it once more, as the remedy is not supplied, because the money is needed for something else.

Years ago the City of Toronto salvaged many acres of silted lake bottom, by a process of suction piping which is now the most valuable high shoreline of the City of Toronto and the best of soil.

The City of Vancouver is responsible for building the city in its relation to the Fraser River and valley as its site, with a safe system for controlling the waters and salvaging the silt of the floods before it rushes out to the ocean and is lost to us for ever. It can be done. It should be done. And it would pay to do it.

MARGARINE

Sir,—For the benefit of your correspondent, Lillian Wood, Mr. Sinclair writes on May 29: "Does not think he is going to be successful this year, but feels he has laid the foundation which will result in repeal next Winter. Already the agricultural experts are predicting an even more severe butter shortage next Winter . . . He also hopes too that when margarine is permitted in Canada, it will provide a good outlet for the fish, and whale oils which can be produced on both coasts."

Beachcombing

By FRANK M. KELLEY

TALKING about nature, the young woman of Brooklyn, N.Y., who has written the Victoria and Island Tourist Bureau about those popular minerals, amethyst and agate, is not the only member of the important allies group—which includes stones of jasper, flint, bornstone, chert, chalcedony and onyx, all of which can be cut with special tools and polished with gratifying results — might possibly gather an interesting collection on the beaches along the Strait of Fuca, particularly west of Otter Point.

Like a lot more young folk, quite some time ago now, I had a weakness for scouring near and far beaches, searching for stones that might be different. Whether it was because these were always scrutinized and the best specimens had already been gathered by sharp-eyed seekers, or the conditions were not favorable for finding the cherished stones, agates particularly, they never seemed plentiful on the beaches in the immediate vicinity of Victoria.

MENAGERIE THERE

Always I had the best luck on the beaches beyond Esquimalt Lagoon, but the pickings there were not anything to jubilate over or warrant any exclamations of wonder when shown to other youngsters. Rocky Spit did better, but the happiest hunting ground of all proved to be the stretch of sharply-rising stone litter on what used to be known as French's Beach, between Sheringham Point and the Jordan River.

To reach French's Beach at that time you took the continuation of Gorge road known as the Otter Point Road, I believe. This road, in the horse and buggy days, ended just above the Sheringham Point Lighthouse. We went through a gate over a path leading down to a bit of flat and desirable parklike land, where French, a near relative of Vancouver French, of South Africa and Great War fame, had established a menagerie, which was probably not so desirable to the chance visitor.

That was about the time the proprietor was moving from a move into town. Old-timers will remember his menage of wild animals and snakes near Swan Lake Corner, and the trouble the animals created in the over-sensitive nostrils of residents in that area until, after much indignation expressed privately and in the press, the animals and the arcma they originated were nudged out.

AGATES PLENTIFUL

That, by the way. To reach the beach which lay a mile and more to the westward, one had to pass through the French property. Things were never better storage next Winter . . . He also hopes too that when margarine is permitted in Canada, it will provide a good outlet for the fish, and whale oils which can be produced on both coasts." A CAROLYN BAYFIELD

Today's Answer

Heat is the agitated motion of very tiny particles, called molecules, which compose all matter. The higher the temperature the more rapid the motion. A cold body is retarded until the increasing motion of the molecules detaches them from each other and a liquid results. At still higher temperatures they separate altogether and turn to gas. At the temperature of the surface of the sun all substances are gaseous. But at "absolute zero" (459.6 degrees below zero, Fahrenheit) molecular motion ceases and all substances are solid.

Motor of Parliaments

LONDON.—By one of those illurgical mysteries which only an architect or a mason would presume to understand, a foundation stone may be laid at a time when the steel framework of the edifice it is to support is already rising to the level of the surrounding roofs. Recently, therefore, when the Speaker performed the ceremony in the Palace of Westminster and the Dean blessed the stone, there was much to give visible substance to the welcome announcement that the new House of Commons will be ready for occupation in the year 1950.

In history the House of Commons has been curiously independent of its material environment. Originally the only true Parliament chamber was the House of Lords, and the Commons came into Parliament only occasionally, when they were summoned to receive the royal injunctions or to report progress by the lips of the Speaker.

In those earlier centuries they conducted their business in the refectory or the chapter house of the Abbey, and eventually in St. Stephen's Chapel. They have often met out of London, at York, Lincoln, Oxford or elsewhere, and it was a reversion to ancient practice when they accepted ecclesiastical hospitality at Church House during the war.

Mr. Churchill, at the ceremony of laying the foundation stone, spoke of the living continuity of the House of Commons as a central element of that political stability of the British tradition which stands as an example to all free nations in the present crisis of the world.

The Prime Minister struck the same note when he described the House as "not a building, but a living fellowship renewed through the centuries, changing its membership, but always in essence the same."

Mr. Attlee's word "fellowship" and Mr. Churchill's word "home" sum up between them all that differentiates the mother of Parliaments from the perversions and caricatures that, in the age of totalitarian revolution and reaction, encroach upon the Parliamentary name. Nowhere in the world is the context of opposing ideas more keenly waged than in the British House of Commons. It remains, nevertheless, the place to which the "isms" and the "ocks" resort as co-heirs of the same tradition, equally zealous for the honor of the institution, walking together as friends.—The Times.

Wanted—More Beds

(Editorial in Your Health)

SHORTAGE of hospital beds for tuberculous persons in British Columbia has reached alarming proportions, and there should be immediate action to cope with this critical state of affairs.

This is no like statement or unconsidered guess. It is the careful finding of health authorities and the directors of the British Columbia Tuberculosis Society.

In an emphatic resolution directors pointed out that the shortage of beds—which at present is 300—is creating additional hardships for patients and their families, and further delay is hamstring the control program.

To those who have the disease, to those who are interested in the work, it is not the entire public these words should mean much. The entire battle against tuberculosis has for more than half a century revolved around the question of beds and bed space.

Despite the tremendous advances made by medical science in the fight, proper bed rest is still one of the basics. If we want to eliminate tuberculosis as the scourge that it still is, patients must be treated properly. They must have care, and the most important care is given to them in a proper hospital.

For every bed that British Columbia is short, there is a potential danger to some citizen of British Columbia.

The row in the plural may be called rows, or kine,
But, a hen, if repeated, is never called hine;
And the plural of vow is vows, never vine.
If I speak of a foot and you show me two feet,
And I give you a boot, would the pair be called beet?
If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth,
Why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth?
Should the plural of kiss ever be written as kese?
Then one may be that, and the two may be those,
Yet hat in the plural would never be hese.
And the plural of cat is cats, and not cose
We speak of a brother, and also of brethren.
But though we say mother, we never say methren.
Then the masculine pronouns are he, his and him,
But imagine the feminine, she, shis and shim!
So the English, I think you all will agree,
Is the funniest language you ever did see.

Introducing Thomas Alva Edison at a dinner, the toastmaster enumerated his many inventions, dwelling at length on the talking machine. The aged inventor rose, smiled and said gently: "I must insist upon a correction. God invented the talking machine. I only invented the first one that can be shut off."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

IN Algiers, I grew tired of French cooking. Being married to a blonde who talks baby talk must have the same effect on a man as has unrelieved French cooking. If he has not been born to it.

What I wanted was something like thick Canadian pancakes, not the flimsy wafers the French digitally lay that name. Corn on the cob. Ham and eggs. A French chef cannot leave ham and eggs alone. He must do something to them. Immediately he sees them he calculates how foreign these foods should come, as it were, from the hand of God.

My friend, I walked eastward from the smart Europeanized modern section until I reached the distinct wheel the French and the Arab begin to make contact and blend. I was looking for an Arab restaurant that might invite travellers. Imagine my delight when I saw, over a small unpretentious shop the sign—Cafe Murphy.

Murphy it was. No, a doubt of it. I fairly sprang like a flea across the street and peered inside. Corn beef and cabbage was boiled potatoes was my dish, I felt certain. But my first glance revealed that the cafe was definitely Arab. Inside were Arabs of all shades, from old ivory to jet black. What amazed me so was the sober angry way, in search of corn beef was the sight of one Frenchman eating pilafe which is rice blended with lamb or fish or shrimps or some such comestible.

An Arab waiter drifted to me where I sat.

"Is Monsieur Murphy in?" I requested in my best Chicoutimi.

The waiter, obviously delighted, retired to summon Monsieur Murphy.

He came out in his white coat, wearing a white cloth on his head, turban wise, in place of a chef's hat. Mr. Murphy was as black as the ace of spades! He was 100 per cent Arab.

In response to my inquiries, he explained that his great-great grandfather, an Irishman named Murphy, had been captured at sea by the Algerian pirates, and, being a sea-faring man, had settled down and become an Arab. I allowed Mr. Murphy to select my meal for me from the Arabic menu. It was a pilafe, and the meat in it appeared to be human earth. Probably some sort of sea food, but not corn beef and cabbage. My next meal was French: Jambon et des oeufs.—Canada Wide Feature Service, Ltd.

Observation Car:

By G. S.

FROM a former Victorian residing at Rouen, France: "What we need most is jam, milk, butter, sugar, flour, cheese and custard powder. We have had no jam like this for old people and children have been able to obtain a little. Milk is also kept for children. We are allowed four ounces of coffee per month, three and one-half ounces of butter, and one pound nine ounces of sugar" . . . A classic example of brevity was furnished by a young newspaper reporter in Rhodesia, England, whose editor continually told him to "Keep it brief." One day the youth turned in the following item: "Shocking tragedy last night. Lord——, a guest of Lady ——, complained of feeling ill, took a bathful, his hat and coat, no notice of anyone, his departure, a taxi, a revolver from his pocket, and his life. Good chap, sports" . . . "I dark on the new job tomorrow and am hoping for the best," was the letter forwarded to Tobermorist Martin. "A young man hopes for the best. When he becomes older, he just learns to avoid the worst." Martin chuckled . . . "I had a glorious dream last night that I was a millionaire." Reader Ben told Bill, the Broad Street barber. "Is that so? My wife thinks that about me in the morning when she shops in town." Bill replied . . . "Can you let me have a little money?" a friend asked the Keating squire. "Sure. About how little?" the squire answered . . . No man is a complete failure until he commences to dislike those who have made successes of their lives . . . The only thing more nations have in common is a defeat.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO — The City Council has no intention of going into the coal dealer's business; nor has it any intention of encouraging the manufacture of briquettes in Victoria. This is the sentiment conveyed by City Clerk E. W. Bradley to the North Saanich Twenty-Year Club.

50 YEARS AGO—Piles are killed in a few days if they are captured by a new trap which has an endless carrier run by clockwork, with one of the supporting legs of the bottle a casting which shinks down on portions of the carrier and brushes the flies off at intervals as it revolves.

85 YEARS AGO—A gentleman who has come down from that spring Island informs us that he has a canoe near Cowichan, and the Indians stated that the schooner A-chee-mun, and two of his tillicums had been taken by the men of war.

Diefenbaker Says Government Often "Pushing People Around"

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP) — Parliament's champion of the rights of the individual—John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre)—pressed in the Commons today against Government officials "pushing people around."

Mr Diefenbaker accused the Government of tending impetus to a trend pushing non-parliamentary bodies power over individuals without

Expect Russia To Dispute German Rule

LONDON, June 7 (AP) — Britain, France, the United States and the Benelux countries recommended officially today a separate federal government for Western Germany and agreed to keep their occupation troops there until Europe's peace is secure.

Opposition from Russia was considered certain.

The proposals were made during a six-week conference in London of representatives of the three major western powers and the Benelux countries—Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. They raised a major question: What will Russia do now in Eastern Germany?

Even before the conference began Russia protested strongly against separate consideration of Western Germany's status, and served notice she would refuse to recognize the legality of the decisions.

An hour before the agreements were announced today the British Foreign Office gave a copy of the communique outlining the terms to Russian Ambassador George N. Zarubin. Another copy went to Marshal Vassily D. Sokolovsky, Russian military governor in Berlin.

The first semi-official Communist reaction appeared in the Russian-licensed newspaper Nachi Express in Berlin.

"They know very well in the West that Moscow never will approve a federal structure for Germany without the German people being asked first," it said.

The recommendations amounted to a big blueprint for Western Germany's economic and political future. The communique which summed up the action said the agreements "in no way preclude and on the contrary should facilitate, eventual four-power agreement on the German problem."

The steps outlined in the agreements are based, officials said, on the belief that the German people should take maximum responsibilities.

Project to Absorb Satellites Predicted Unwise for Russia

—Interpreting the News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. News Analyst

Many American observers are inclined to doubt reports from Europe that Russia is about ready to begin incorporating her satellites directly into the Soviet Union.

The idea of liberty still flames brightly among large sections of the populations. The Communists hold in Romania, Bulgaria, Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, while tight, is by no means based on majorities arouse sufficient opposition to set up the whole business. It would seem to be useless as long as the satellites remain docile

Lewis Urges Welfare Aid

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP) — John L. Lewis, hinting at a new strike, told soft coal operators today that if they want a contract they must first guarantee welfare aid for discharged miners.

The United Mine Workers chief assailed the operators as "fat cats" and said

"We assume that you would degree with president contract coal mines expires. From an assumption would seem to be a logical predicate for the making of a new wage agreement before that date."

Lewis made his remarks during contract negotiations which had been ordered by a Federal court.

Today's talks got nowhere. They were resumed until tomorrow after Lewis called for the assuming of nearly $20,000,000 in moral obligations to distressed miners.

Would Exempt Flower Bouls

OTTAWA, June 7 (CP) — Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (P.C., Nanaimo) said today in the Commons changes should be made in the sales tax so it applies to flower bulbs.

Mr. Pearkes said the tax should be removed entirely. As an alternative it should apply only to sales aggregating more than $1,000 a year. At present the tax applies to sales totalling more than $100 a year.

Finance Minister Abbott said he would take note of the representations and consider them when any general revision of the sales tax is undertaken.

The train passed over the bridge and again the truck left the tracks. Two cars were derailed and the train was stopped.

Modern Women Measure More

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, June 7 (CP) — British women — like their United States cousins — are growing taller and more curvaceous.

Bookseller for several of London's leading mannequin houses, commenting on Hollywood reports of a recent census by a film studio, Herr said: "Yes, too, are contented by being asked for larger models than those demanded before the war."

Rosemary Chance, Lorie Clayton and the Mayfair Academy all find British women are bigger-busted and "bipped" than they have been for years. But—despite Britain's starchy rations—they are smaller waisted, further accentuating the growing bipline.

Two decades ago the average female figure was much straighter usually having a 28 or 30-inch bust and hip measurements and a waist of 27 or 28 inches. Today the waist has shrunk about two inches, and hips are at least two inches larger than busts.

Mayer spokesman say today's average stock sizes are 34 (bust 36, waist 27½, hip 38) and 36 (37½, 28, 40) with occasional demands for size 13 (34½, 26, 38). Canadian buyers who generally ask for 14 and 16.

DEMAND "RIPPED" MODEL

Bertie Corsets say the average size is bust 34, waist 26, hip 38. They agree the 1948 women is bigger-busted, smaller-waisted and bigger-hipped than her mother in the 1939's, with the demand for the "straight" Berlin falling and the "bipped" model rising.

Export experience, says Bertie shows most Canadian women are broader-shouldered and straighter-waisted than British women. Often they are bigger-boned, though not necessarily heavier.

British women's feet are also getting bigger. A Lotus & Delta Shoes Co. spokesman said, "Women feet are wider now than they have been for years, due to the amount of walking done. There is no noticeable increase in length, however.

"The bonnet, narrowed above for export go to Canada and the United States."

British film stars are following the bigger trend, as this table of bust, waist and hip measurements shows. The first two are teen-agers.

J. A. Bennell Succumbs After Seizure

James A. Bennell, two-war veteran and building superintendent for Royal Trust Co. in Victoria, died at Royal Jubilee Hospital Sunday night after a brief illness.

He had been ill for several days, but Monday's fatal attack was belowing years of his father's death in England.

He served four years overseas with the Ordnance Corps during the World War, returning with the rank of major.

Surviving are his wife, one son and two daughters at the family home, 1891 Beach Drive.

Condemned Hall Given Reprieve

Odd Fellows' Hall, 1218 Douglas Street, condemned recently by the city building inspector, will not be torn down at the present.

Alex McCaffe, secretary, stated yesterday, "We are working on the problem." The weight of the roof, he said, is too great and the building is bulging about five inches, according to the engineer's report. The building inspector's report stated that the bulge had to be "rectified or the structure demolished."

One of the oldest buildings in Victoria and known for its high tin ceiling, the Odd Fellows' Hall has become a landmark in the city and is well known to thousands of Victorians.

Annual provincial convention of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be held in Victoria July 12 to July 15.

Set Early-June Record As Hot Spell Continues

PERSPIRING workers longed for cool gardens and beaches yesterday as Victoria's temperature soared to an early June record high of 84 at Gonzales Heights.

Downtown temperature was estimated to be approximately 90.

Previous record for the first week in June was 83 on June 5, 1935. On June 10, 1932, the mercury hit 84.

Weather bureau predicted clear skies and over 80 temperatures for today.

Scores returned from beaches with lobster-red complexions after 15 hours of sunshine Sunday. The temperature was 79 degrees.

Official Victoria maximum temperatures during the last week were:

Tuesday, 66; Wednesday, 75; Thursday, 66; Friday, 63; Saturday, 67; Sunday, 79; Monday, 84.

Foresters Plan "Fun Show" To Aid Fund

Gaiety, color and unusual events will feature the Fun Show of all to be held at the Bay Street Armoury on the night of June 18.

Proceeds of the affair, being staged by the Victoria branch of the Independent Order of Foresters, were originally to go to the Greater Victoria Civil Guide organization. Robert Noel, chairman of the publicity committee, said last night, however, that the money would now go to the Emergency Fund with the approval of the Guides.

Approximately 100 people from the audience will participate in the show, and prizes valued at hundreds of dollars will be distributed throughout the evening.

The Fun Show ran for two days recently in Vancouver, and broke attendance records there.

Children from the Protestant Orphanage, patients from the Veterans' Hospital, and groups of aged citizens will be given special invitations to the performance.

Those taking part in organizing the fun show include Don Brander, Chief Ranger for the I.O.F. in Victoria, and Percy Frampton.

One-Third Tracks Torn Up in City

About one-third of the street car trackage in the city has been torn up in six weeks.

Track removal machinery has finished on May Street and is moving out to Bay Street. A small section of Craigflower Road is due to be torn up as soon as possible to allow a start on road work.

Tax Removal Scant Saving To Consumer

Removal of Dominion E per cent sales tax on foodstuffs last month has brought only "infinitesimal" saving to consumers, a wholesaler said yesterday.

Even that saving may be offset by scarcities in some lines notably in canned vegetables, he added. Fraser Valley floods drowned crops of vegetables due for harvesting soon. Price increases may result.

"We haven't enough canned peas for a week," he said.

Removal of the sales tax began to take effect only as wholesalers gradually laid in new stocks, he pointed out.

The tax was imposed at manufacturing and importing level. Because of freight charges, wholesale reduction here has amounted to no more than 4 per cent.

Consumers are receiving a maximum of one cent reduction on canned goods, he said. In most cases the reduction is fractional and consumers do not benefit at all, unless they buy in quantity.

PLENTY OF WHEAT

BURKBURNETT, Tex., June 7 (AP)—Thousands of bushels of wheat, valued at an estimated $300,000, are lying on roped-off streets here because the three grain elevators in town are already full. John Brookman, publisher of The Weekly Star here, said that trucks are lined up for a mile waiting to unload more wheat.

Talks in City On New Plant Slated Today

Discussions on the Aluminum Company of Canada's proposal for building a $300,000,000 aluminum plant in British Columbia will be continued at the Legislative Buildings today, McNeely Du Boss, vice-president, said yesterday.

He said the conference would be attended by Cabinet ministers and Provincial Government engineers.

Talks would be limited to development of hydro-electric power for the project, Mr. Du Boss said.

He said the company had received a great deal of encouragement from the Provincial Government, which seemed eager to have the plant established in British Columbia.

Company officials have inspected three prospective power sites on the Mainland. The largest, 40 miles inland from Bute Inlet, would provide 1,000,000 horsepower.

Strawberries On Market By Week-End

Strawberries and cream will be in Victoria menus this week.

The first berries of the season were delivered to wholesalers at the week-end, but few will be retailed until near the end of the week. Prices have not yet been determined.

C. M. Smith, Dominion-Provincial Farm Labor service manager in Victoria, said pickers are registering now at his office, 608 Broughton Street. About 1,000 pickers will be needed for a heavy strawberry crop expected to ripen by next Monday or Tuesday.

"If this sort of weather continues, we'll need all the help available," he said.

Growers are pondering the possibility of shipping berries to Interior Prairie markets by air if rail lines knocked out by floods are not restored before picking-time.

NEW JOBS FOR OLD

WANTED MEN WITH IDEAS

Whatever job you're doing today, chances are, in this part of the world anyway, that it's a "new job"—that a few years back it just didn't exist.

Where do these "new jobs", which usually carry higher pay and better working conditions come from?

Under our "Opportunity System", management is responsible for most of them.

To fill old needs, to raise our standard of living, management develops new ideas into new industries into new markets, creating at the same time thousands and thousands of "new jobs".

An automobile, a mechanical refrigerator, a radio, a new food, a sheet of plywood are all new ideas turned by management into "new jobs" paying new and higher wages, offering more opportunities for advancement to more workers.

To date the North American continent and the North American standard of living offer solid proof that no other system yet devised—socialist, communist or fascist—is able to develop so efficiently and so quickly new ideas into "new jobs" for the highest standard of living in the world.

Under the Opportunity System every worker has ample opportunity of taking new and more rewarding jobs in place of his old. Where else today does this freedom prevail?

How food protection makes jobs for Canadians

From gardens, farms, orchards, lakes and seas comes vast quantities of food of every variety for use on Canadian tables. Food processors have constantly been seeking new ways to protect the purity of food. International Nickel has cooperated in this work, and has carried on a great deal of research aimed at developing better and better equipment.

So today the equipment used to handle, cook and process foods, from vegetables and soup, meat, fowl and fish, is largely made of Nickel or Nickel alloys. These metals resist the action of food acids, do not rust or corrode, do not discolor or contaminate foods.

As a result of scientific research, processed foods are safer, purer and more appetizing. More and more Nickel and Nickel alloys are used for utensils, cooking vessels and other food processing equipment. The production of this Nickel provides jobs for scores of Canadians.

Thus does research develop better products, increase the use of Canadian Nickel and create more employment.

Tourist Influx Shows Jump Over May 1947

Victoria is experiencing the beginning of a "flood" of tourists over the annual heavy influx of tourists.

During last month 2,464 automobiles bearing foreign licence plates were handled by Canadian Customs officials here. These cars carried a total of 8,281 passengers.

[illegible] cars carrying 5,861 passengers came to the city from parts outside Canada.

George F. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, said during the five months of this year ending May 31, a total of 8,737 cars with 14,576 passengers came to this city. This is a 28 per cent increase of last years totals which at that time were record figures—when 6,567 cars, carrying 11,372 passengers, came to Victoria.

So far this year there have been cars bearing licence plates of every state of the United States with the exception of South Carolina. In addition they have been here from Hawaii, Alaska and Manila.

Last year tourist seasons was the heaviest ever recorded for Victoria. From all indications the 1948 season will establish a new all-time high.

Little Stories for Bedtime

SAMMY JAY ARGUES WITH HIMSELF

You know what it means to argue. Of course, everybody knows that. It is for us to make others think as we do, while they try to make you think as they do. It is to try to prove that you are right and another is wrong. When you argue with someone, you are said to be having an argument.

Now, arguments sometimes are very good things. And sometimes very bad things. People who can often do a great deal of good, because in this way they bring out all the truth about the matter. But very, very often people who argue lose their temper and the argument is becomes a quarrel, and the quarrel becomes a fight, and it is all very dreadful and a great pity.

Sammy Jay likes to argue. But Sammy is one of those who is apt to lose his temper unless he finds that he is getting the best of the argument. The only safe things for people like Sammy is for them to argue with themselves and no one else. Sammy does that once in awhile. It is a pretty good plan. If more people argued with themselves, they would avoid a great deal of trouble in this world. They wouldn't do a great many of the mean things they do.

When Sammy left the Old Pasture where he had found the new home of Reddy Fox and Mrs. Reddy, and had guessed the secret which it contained, he flew back to the Green Forest in a great hurry so as to spread the news that Reddy Fox not only had a new house over in the Old Pasture, but also some babies. He hadn't seen those babies, but he was just as sure that they were there in the new house as if he had seen them. He knew that Reddy and Mrs. Reddy were doing their very best to keep it a secret, and he chuckled long and he chuckled mischievously as he thought how he would tell everybody he met, and spoil Reddy and Mrs. Reddy and, perhaps make trouble for them.

Now, it was quite a distance to the Green Forest, and because he met no one on the way Sammy had time for considerable thinking. He got to thinking of how he would feel if someone should find his nest and tell everybody just where it was and so, perhaps, bring danger to the helpless babies there. The more he thought of it the more uncomfortable he felt. He stopped chuckling and flew as his favorite thinking tree. It is a tree in the Green Forest where Sammy is very fond of sitting alone by himself. A great deal of mischief has Sammy plotted in that tree. And there too, he has planned some of the good deeds which he has done, the deeds which prove that Sammy isn't really bad at heart at all.

"Of course I'll tell everybody Reddy's secret," said Sammy to himself when he was comfortably seated in his tree. "I ought to Peter Rabbit ought to know it, Danny Meadow Mouse ought to know it, Bob White and Mrs. Grouse ought to know it. They ought to know it, too. Yes, I will tell all others, and sooner or later it will reach the ears of Reddy's enemies. Then something may happen to those babies.

"That isn't any business of mine," declared Sammy.

"Yes, it is," replied his other self. "If anything happened to one of Reddy's babies because you had told the secret where they are it would be wholly your fault. You would be the one to blame.

"I wouldn't care," snapped Sammy. "There are too many loans anyway."

"Yes you would care," insisted the other self. "You have found out how what people think of you. So far a long time Sammy Jay argued with himself and got quite provoked with himself and tried to decide what he might do and what he might not do. It was very perplexing. Don't you think so?

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE Aint She Sweet.—One of the never-to-be-forgotten tunes that brighten 20th Century-Fox's new romance delight, "You Were Meant for Me," now showing at the Atlas Theatre, aptly describes Jeanne Crain and Dan Dailey as Cathy and Gilbert, Crain who turns flapper, rolls her stockings, does the Charleston, and gets a mad "crush" on a popular crooner in the whirling events of the story laid in the exciting hey-hey days of the fabulous twenties.

CAPITOL THEATRE An Ideal Husband,—Fox release now showing at the Capitol Theatre, photographed in color by Technicolor, sees Paulette Goddard entering a new phase of her sensational screen career. Gone than ever in this scintillating comedy of London high society Paulette appears as the smoothly sophisticated charmer, Mrs. Cheveley, and has an opportunity to exhibit heretofore untapped dramatic resources.

ODEON THEATRE Twenty billion dollars worth of scenery is on view in the late Mark Hellinger's final Universal-International release, "The Naked City," now at the Odeon Theatre. That's the estimated value of skyscrapers and other structures seen in the Barry Fitzgerald starring picture, which, for the most part was photographed in New York City.

ROYAL THEATRE Maureen O'Hara's latest picture for 20th Century-Fox, "Sitting Pretty," now showing at the Royal Theatre, is as great a smash hit as "Miracle on 34th Street," which also starred the auburn-haired beauty. Maureen's role in the current picture which stars her with Robert Young and Clifton Webb, is a distinct departure from those provided by the dignified costume dramas in which she usually appears. In "Sitting Pretty" she's a harried, but modern housewife, and the mother of three children.

PLAZA THEATRE Clyde Beatty, the world's greatest animal trainer, takes you along in actual thrilling scenes of ferocious combat of African jungle animals in the pictures "Lost Jungle" and "Wild Beasts at Bay," which are now showing at the Plaza Theatre.

RIO THEATRE Now a determined lad saves his widowed mother from a hasty marriage to an unscrupulous fortune hunter is the basis of RKO's latest dramatic offering, "Strange Illusion," currently showing at the Rio Theatre. Young Jimmy Lydon, Warren William and Sally Eilers are seen in the three top roles of this unique production which boasts a strong element of mystery as well as emotional drama.

TORR THEATRE The screen wardrobe created for Loretta Young's characterization of a successful fashion designer in Rial Walls' production, "The Perfect Marriage" now at the York Theatre, is the most lavish since the war. Fifteen creations by Paramount Studio designer Edith Head range from diaphanous negligees to dramatic evening gowns. "The Perfect Marriage" co-stars Miss Young with David Niven.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, June 7 — Rapid expansion of Winter wheat harvesting in the Southwest caused an easier undertone in the broad cereal today. Much of the selling came from the Southwest and was of a hedging nature. Prices held just far above the Government loan level.

In contrast to wheat, food grains were firm most of the day. The buying of corn and oats came in the face of week-end showers in the Midwest and fairly heavy cash corn offerings by the country. Bookings exceeded 100,000 bushels. Most buying came from previous short sellers.

Wheat closed ¼-1¼ lower, corn ⅛-¼ lower, oats were ¼-¼ lower to 1 cent higher, and soybeans were 1½ higher.

U.N. Assembly Already Being Called Showdown of Big Power Politics

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., June 7 (AP)—The Paris meeting of the United Nations assembly already is being labeled as a showdown session of big-power politics. The meeting will be under way during the United States' presidential election.

It is a fact here that any new diplomatic moves would be influenced by the national election and develop rapid at the assembly. The United States has insisted that efforts to iron the gap between Washington and Moscow must be channeled through the U.N.

The 58-country session opens June 16 with Russia's long time delegate Andrei Vishinsky, the Soviet Foreign Minister. The presidential election is November 2.

The assembly calendar up to now shows these major issues:

1. Atomic energy. The United Nations Atomic Energy Commission has broken off talks after two years because of failure to get agreement between Russia and the Western majority on measures for international control.

2. Arms reduction. No progress has been made on the ambitious scheme of cutting down the world's armaments, placed by Russia before the 1946 Autumn assembly in New York.

3. Italian colonies. The Italian peace treaty provides that if Britain, the United States, France and Russia have not been able to agree on disposition of the Italian colonies by September 15 the problem shall go before the assembly.

4. Greece. Russian satellites Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria continued to bar a United Nations inquiry commission attempting to settle differences between the two Greeces.

5. Palestine. It looks as if the Holy Land will still be a long time. The 1948 special assembly, April 16-May 14, did nothing to settle it. All current efforts have been toward stopping the war. The political future remains in doubt and that's up to the assembly.

6. Soviet decision will have to be taken on the political future of Korea.

The old bugaboo of the veto will be up again, too. Small and medium powers still are trying to eliminate the veto from the charter, the United States is attempting to modify it, and the Russians are insisting that it stands as it

Vice-President Of China Seeks Reforms

NANKING, June 7 (AP) — The voice of China's new vice-president, Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, grinds on the ears of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang Party machine.

The wiry, florid-faced little general astonished China at the outset of his campaign by declaring he stood for reforms—not paper reforms, but real ones.

He also made it evident he was willing to trade punches with the ruling cliques of the Kuomintang, which have run China for 20 years.

China's millions, who rarely bear such talk, stopped to listen and wait for the aftermath of the upstart.

Ordinarily, the election of a vice-president wouldn't cause a ripple in China. Sun Fo, son of Sun Yat-sen, is the vice-president might be—if he wanted it. Sun is a nation which Chiang long has ruled.

BECAME OVERLORD

The 54-year-old vice-president comes from the peasantry of South China's Kwangsi Province. As a boy he worked on a farm, managed to educate himself, became a teacher and finally joined the army. Eventually he became military overlord of Kwangsi Province.

He introduced education and economic reforms and strive to make the province self-sufficient.

Li is quiet, man of simple tastes. As a politician he has been called a Liberal by friends and a Communist by his enemies he is neither.

He proposes that the Government make peace with the Red by putting into practice a land redistribution program, which now is the main Communist weapon in winning over the peasantry.

This is supposed to be one reason why Chiang objects to Li. The President doesn't think the time is ripe for land redistribution. He also resents the Kuomintang has elements of feudalism in it. He wants a house cleaning in the party from top to bottom.

Most observers believe the chances of an open break between Li and Chiang are remote. The Communist menace makes such a step too dangerous for all concerned.

Raising Temperatures

In—certain forms of paralysis it was found that inoculating the patient with malaria organisms, causing an attack of malaria and then curing the malaria, cured the paralysis.

When it was found that it was the intense heat the malaria created in the body that cured the paralysis physicians began searching for other means of creating heat in the body instead of by malaria or other diseases. They finally found that short radio waves cause fever in mice rapidly and without danger. These waves are now used in paralysis cases.

Six Juveniles Detained During May

There were six detentions in the Juvenile Home during May, Miss Margaret Christie chairman of the welfare and municipal committee, said at a recent meeting of the committee.

All were confined following their appearance in juvenile court on charges which could have been dealt with by the probation staff, in an effort to determine the causes of the child's anti-social behaviour.

Interested citizens and business firms are continuing to make donations to the home, Mrs. Christie said. Response to the suggestion that a trust fund be set up to care for the children's extra needs has been good, she said, and additional contributions will be welcome.

Jack McKenzie stressed that the juvenile home must not become a "parking lot" for children. If the home is doing its job capably, the confined child will be helped to grow during the detention period.

When most children enter the home he said they are frightened and have a distrust of the adult world. One function of the home is to soften this. Treatment for the child while in the home and when under the court's jurisdiction must be recorded with the child's needs.

JOHNNY UNDER COVER

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 7 — Eleven-year-old John St. John told his friends that he was in the Cotton Carnival parade but nobody saw him. Little John was concealed under the skirt of the rhubarb dance around the Ole Plantation float. He was turning the crank to make the gigantic dancer's hips wiggle.

Enlarge Cages For Animals

Because of representations made by the Victoria S.P.C.A. some of the animals in cages in Crescent Park were enlarged last week and yesterday Animals in the Bailey Brothers Circus appeared to be well cared for and in good condition, they said.

During May, the Victoria branch made 135 inspections, 138 investigations, issued ten warnings and destroyed 78 animals including 50 newly-born kittens and 21 birds.

Under the direction of Mrs W. B. Williams, the branch plans to show films from the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in schools and children's clubs.

Weather "Too Perfect" For Yacht Club Races

Marine News

A total of 11 vessels, representing three classes, turned out for racing events of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club over the week-end, with feature events being held Saturday afternoon.

In the words of club officials, the weather was "glorious and perfect," but a bit too perfect for keen racing, as the wind was light and flukey. Entries did not make a scheduled second round.

No "Star" class vessels are ready yet, but four "Lightnings," three "Snipes," and one "Class 30" dinghy, owned by C. Wood and G. Nickells respectively, did not compete the "C" Class. First, May D. E. P. Astor, 4.31.41, second, Lakings, James, 4.23.43, and third, Margard, D. A. Wright, 4.36.32.

Sunday afternoon featured a race of "Lightning" class craft. There was a light northerly wind, which became changeable as the afternoon progressed. Results of this event were as follows:

First Sola, Grant MacKinnon; second, Ariel, Eric Dossall, and third, Clipper, Ron Riley.

Results follow:

Lightnings: First, Ionna, G. MacKinnon, 4.05.40; second, Ariel, E. Dossall, 4.10.15; third, Clipper, R. Riley, 4.16.27; fourth, Mac III, H. W. Gladwell, 4.12.10.

Snipes: First, Scarlett, Baldwin, 4.19.00; second, Inglen, N. A. Bekelov, 4.20.40; P.D.Q., and Redskin, third.

Whaling Goal

Russia, short on fats and oils, is going after whales in a big way, and getting them too, it is reported from Washington by Associated Press.

Soviet whaling fleets are hauling home the bloaters as never before, the United States Commerce Department reported yesterday.

The Russian Government gives the fleets "goals" to work on, and is weekly "raising alights" from year to year, the report said.

The whaling fleet headed home for Odessa in late May with plausible from the Russian press for fulfilling its assignment to catch 800 whales with 19,000 metric tons of whale oil.

The fleet had been whale-hunting in Antarctic waters since last October, carrying with it a floating factory capable of processing 15 large whales a day.

Next year, says the report, the Russian Government wants more whales, and a "Stoffel whaling fleet" to go to the Antarctic ought to be good for at least 1,000 blue whales and 20,000 tons of oil.

The Soviet is equally interested in whaling in the Pacific, and prepared its Pacific flotilla for the start on its season about the time the other started home.

Alice Seen

"Alice," the wandering albino whale, accompanied by several other dark-skinned fellows, put in another appearance Sunday five miles out from Cordova Bay.

R. L. Sampler with a party of holidayers aboard his 46-foot pleasure craft saw the grayish-white monster cruising in a northerly direction. Visible at the time were the mammal's large pinkish dorsal fin and a large hump on its back.

She showed herself three or four times about 4.45 p.m., said B. C. Sampler, a member of the party.

Flood Debris Seen Here

Grim reminders of the tragic Fraser River floods are being seen daily on and about beaches and other coastal stretches of the Greater Victoria area.

Yesterday afternoon J. Bowker, manager of Oak Bay Boat House, picked up and towed away the carcass of a pig which had evidently been drowned in the flood area and swept into the open sea.

Earlier yesterday a dead calf was seen on another Oak Bay beach.

Officials of the B.C. Pilotage Authority on Dallas Road reported there is "any amount" of flood debris floating in stronger currents a considerable distance offshore. Barn doors, tree trunks and trees freshly uprooted are a common sight.

PILE-UP ON BEACHES

Logs and branches and other debris, believed to have drifted here from the Fraser, are piling up on beaches along Dallas Road and Marine Drive. With tides and winds as they are, it is expected there will be many more reminders of the flood on local beaches before many days have passed.

A report has also been received to the effect that a Victoria man found a chesterfield on a local beach. Reportedly, he salvaged the piece of furniture, said to have been reconditioned for his personal use.

Residents of the Gulf Islands, situated between Victoria and the mouth of the Fraser River, report there is a great deal of flood wreckage in that area. Facilities of various British Columbia Police stations among the Gulf Islands have been used to clear carcasses from beaches where necessary.

FISHING BAD

Commercial fishing operations in the Strait of Georgia have practically come to a standstill as a result of the flood. The water is muddy and filled with debris which would ruin fishing nets and cause extensive damage to steering gear of smaller vessels.

From the local office of the Department of Transport have been issued warnings for all craft to proceed with caution through the debris-infested waters.

It is believed most of the flood debris swept through the Strait of Georgia will ultimately wind its way through the Strait of Juan de Fuca and into the open sea.

Special Band

As a result of negotiations between the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and the Department of Transport, fishermen of British Columbia now have a special wave band for communication with each other at sea.

The frequency of 2218 kilocycles has been assigned for use by fishermen for inter-ship communication and limited communication with canneries within a distance of 20 miles.

This will mean that fishermen employing radio sets in their boats must have transmitters adjusted to the new frequency as soon as possible in order to relieve congestion on the distress frequency of 1620 kilocycles in use in the fleets.

False Alarm

It wasn't "Alice" the albino whale, after all.

A group of people in a Seattle yacht were sailing about the Strait of Juan de Fuca near the week-end and saw a mammal they believed to be the famous white killer whale which has been roving waters of the Island for some time.

Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum here, and keenly interested in the white killer, reports the whale seen by the Seattle party must have been an ordinary killer or some other species of whale.

The albino whale, he explained, is pure white. The Seattle group reported seeing a mammal black on its upper side with a white underside.

Latest reports about the white killer were from a point near Courtenay. It is believed the mammal has circled Vancouver Island several times since it was first seen.

Trolling Slow

Trolling operations along the West Coast have been comparatively slow over the past several weeks, according to a report from Elgin Nash, president of the Victoria branch, United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union.

Until recently, he reported, weather conditions were unfavorable, and there were few salmon about.

There were coho salmon scattered along the entire West Coast, he said, but not in large numbers. There are a few spring salmon being hooked in waters of Danger Shoals.

The laurel or cherry is closely allied to the almond and the plum.

Hutchins Captures 1,500-Metre Run—Oak Bay High Stars Steal Spotlight

Vancouver athletes swept the invitational events at the Olympic Preview Day track and field meet at Macdonald Park yesterday. The meet, which included school-age competitors, was sponsored by the Vancouver Club to raise funds to send Victoria athletes to the Olympic trials at Montreal. The disappointing crowd in attendance saw some keen competition by Canada's leading track stars.

Jack Hutchins, Vancouver, Canadian half-mile champion, displayed a great burst of speed in the stretch to the finish line. Alexander finished second and Mitchell third.

Three different styles of jumping were in the spotlight in the provincial high jump. Shirley Gordon of Vancouver, using a scissors jump, cleared the bar at 5 feet. The Y's Pat Fleming, Canada's high jump champion, and Elaine Silburn, tied for second with leaps of 4 feet 10½ inches. Miss Fleming used her own style of jumping, which resembles an Eastern roll, and Miss Silburn used a Western roll.

STAR SPORTSWOMAN

It was a pair of Oak Bay High School students, Phil Matson and Bob Harrison, who stole the spotlight, however. The easy striding Matson captured the junior boys' 440-yard race in 54.4 seconds, repeated in the senior half mile in 2:08.4 and took the senior mile in easy fashion in 4:47.8.

Matchman Harrison came in front of the field in the senior 100-yard dash, the senior 220-yard, junior broad jump, and ran a blistering last leg in the senior 440-yard relay to keep the Oak Bay team from behind to an easy victory.

Oak Bay High School scoured a total of 75 points to take the aggregate award. Victoria High School finished second with 31 points and Royal Roads third with 20.

MITCHELL OUTRUN

Wally Alexander, colored Vancouver inter-high school champion outraced Canada's top sprint stars with a finishing burst to capture the invitational 220-yards with the fastest time ever recorded on the Macdonald Park grass. His time was 22.8 seconds. Chuck Turner, Canadian junior sprint king, finished second, with Harry Mitchell, provincial sprint champion, third and Roger Wellman, Dominion senior sprint titleholder, fourth.

Turner got a good jump in the invitational 100-yard dash and led all the way.

Jack Hutchins of Vancouver is seen in lower left winning feature 1,500-metre run. He defeated his rival, Cliff Salmond, of Victoria "Y" by good margin. In lower photo Shirley Gordon, Vancouver H.B.C. athlete, is shown clearing her placed at 5-foot mark to win women's high jump from Victoria's Pat Fleming and Elaine Silburn. A two-week grind replete with double-headers and the long jumps featured in the rubber arrays W.I.L. schedule apparently caught up with Wenatchee Chiefs and Victoria Athletics last night. Playing in the series opener at Royal Athletic Park before 2,500 fans, the pair from the two clubs made runs yet some sort of a record by making 16 errors good for 15 unearned runs. When it was all over, the Athletics were on the long end of a 20-8 count.

After making only 15 hits and scoring only three runs in doubling the three-game series to Salem over the week-end, the Northern Nine found their batting eyes last night as they rapped out 19 hits from the offerings of Glen Lerrman and Jerry Gardner, a catcher who started at first base and ended up on the mound. Included in the barrage were three home runs, two triples and three doubles.

LOSERS SHORT-HANDED

The Chiefs only two and one-half games out of first place had only 13 men in uniform and was forced to let Lerrman take a severe drubbing. They were weakened further on Sunday when First-baseman Steve Andreade quit the club.

The pattern of things to come became evident in the second inning when Victoria scored eight unearned runs. Successive errors by McWilliams and McNulty started the stroke. Bill Doddridge was runner-up in each case to finish second for the aggregate award with four points.

Miss Strong took the senior girls' 50-yard breast stroke and 100-yard free style, but was nosed out by one point by Ina Salmon for the girls' senior aggregate trophy. Miss Salmon gained her winning margin by tripping Joan Morgan in a close finish in the girls' senior 50-yard backstroke.

Eric Dubb and Dick Bowdrowsky took and took on the first lap of the senior men's 100-yard backstroke event, but Dubb gained an edge on the turn and finished the distance in 1:07.4, faster than the Canadian championship event last year.

The girls' water ballet team of Joyce Bradshaw, Alison Smythe and Rita Webber received a great ovation for their performance during the evening. Irene Strong and Ron Wellman treated the crowd to a display of fancy diving and Bob Montgomery uniformed the meet with his comic dives.

Aggregate award winners in each section follows: Senior men, Peter Salmon 6 points; runner-up, Bill Doddridge, 4; senior girls, Ina Salmon, 7; runner-up, Irene Strong, 6; boys under 17, Doug Stewart, 6; runner-up, Stan Powell, 4; girls under 17, Isabel Henley, 7; runner-up, Peggy Wood, 6; boys under 15, Ray Jubb, 6; runner-up, Rob Abbott, 5; girls under 15, Norma Stewart, 6; runner-up, Pat Wright 5; boys under 13, Merlin Hawes, 6; runner-up, Garth Bunting, 4; girls under 13, Anne Hayward, 6; runner-up, Marilyn Nasmith, 2.

Leading the Victoria Athletics was Palmer, who had five successes in the week-end. He hit three triples, including the cycle, after tipping out on the first trip. Balmer also pitched a fine game in addition to his home run and single, and Jensen had a single, double and triple. Sal Rocca tossed out a terrific home run—his fifth—in the third.

Despite the mediocre baseball, there were several thrilling highlights. Palmer and Archie Wilson each came up with a sensational catch and Jensen made a great running play to take his man at first.

Roy Gilmore made his first appearance in the Victoria line-up. The left-fielder had two hits, both sharp singles past third base, struck out twice, fouled out once and was hit by a pitched ball in six trips.

Second game of the three-game series will be tonight. Lerry Ward is Manager Ted Norbert's mound choice. He will be opposed by either Manager Chuck Cronin or Lou McCollum.

Give 8-1 Odds Zale-Graziano Fight Is Short

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—Lean and tough at 157 pounds for his final workout, Middleweight Champ Rocky Graziano today was a confident 5 to 1 favorite to wrap the year-old Tony Zale Wednesday night in Newark's Ruppert Stadium.

Despite the acknowledged punching power of both boxers, the Rock's reputation as a knockout man is betting circles. An eight-year edge in youth and Graziano's knockout win in Chicago last July apparently dimmed memories of Zale's crushing right under the heart that flattened Rocky in 1946.

Zale, perfectly conditioned, weighed 160 pounds.

Although this figures to be a knockout fight and it's 5 to 1 that it won't go the scheduled 15 bouts, Graziano's left hand may be surprisingly effective. So far he has been right hand crazy and may be again, but Trainer Whitey Bimstein has been working hard on that left hook to the body.

This time the Rock isn't predicting the outcome of his knockout although Zale has said he'll win back his crown in three rounds.

It looks now as though a $850,000 house as about as much as could be expected although a weatherman says hope that there is a good chance for a fight.

Graziano is getting a $120,000 guarantee and Zale $60,000. In addition, the fighters will cut in on the gate on a 60-40 per cent basis if this exceeds their guarantees.

IT GOES FOR HORSES, TOO

Dick Chugnanas gave the losers the lead in the first minute of play, but Jokers replied with two markers to take a 3-1 lead at the quarter. Pool Boy knotted the score at 3-3 at the half.

Jokers scored three quick goals after resumption of play and were never headed. They led for anything the final period and blanked the losers in the finale.

Rhodes and Thomas, of Jokers, and Paul Boy's Chugnanas topped scorers with two markers each.

Fish Derbies Under Attack

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., June 7 (CP)—Fish Derbies offering prizes came under fire during the week-end when 20 directors of the Ontario Federation of Anglers and Hunters held their second quarterly meeting of the year.

Three members—Jack Hamilton of Toronto, Walter Wilson of Kitchener and Dr. Norman Douglas of Owen Sound—led the attack on the Derbies. The federation decided to send a resolution to the Ontario Lands Department urging that "the Department bans all shore fishing contests with prizes, better known as Derbies and held in public waters, and of less than an open season duration."

Members claimed the Derbies are only publicity stunts and are a detriment to sustained fishing, because they attract big crowds on opening day and result in rapid depletion of fish.

W.I.L. Sets Flood Relief Game; Another Catcher to Join A's

Professional baseball will contribute its bit to the relief fund for British Columbia flood victims. Reg Patterson, business manager of the Victoria Athletics, announced last night that the A's would play the Vancouver Capilanos at Capilano Stadium on Sunday in an exhibition game, with all proceeds going to the fund.

The scheduled W.I.L. games between Vancouver and Tacoma and Victoria and Wenatchee have been postponed to make the relief fund game possible. Patterson also announced several player changes.

To make room for Outfielder Ray Gilmore and Pitcher Bill Harbison, two players had to be cut off Shortstop Mike Dalton has been given his unconditional release and Pitcher Dick Walkingshaw has been assigned to Twin Falls.

Another new player is expected to join Dick Morgan, who has been attending the club tomorrow as the A's begin to get promised player help from the parent Yankees. Catcher Jerry Sal Rocca a rest from time to time. On his arrival, Ott Hawkins will be assigned to a club in a lower league.

Douglas Tire bowed for the second straight time when Blanshard Cabs eked out a 7-6 triumph in a senior "A" softball game at Central Park last night.

Although outhit by the Tiremen, 13-6, the Cabbies took advantage of the wildness of Jerry Reid, making his first second start for the winners, to build up an early 6-0 lead.

Bluebirds rallied twice in the second on a pair of walks, two singles and a wildpitch for and added two markers in the third. Reid filled the bases on walks and was relieved by Stan Tenning. A single and two wildpitches accounted for the tallies.

Ray Byers homered for the first run for the losers in the fifth. A three-run cluster in the sixth put the Tiremen within striking distance but the Cabmen scored what proved to be the winning run in the top of the seventh.

Losers tallied once in the bottom of the seventh and completed the scoring on Albert Ellis home run in the last of the ninth. Don Hall followed with a hit to put the tying run on base but was left stranded as the next two batters went out.

Rookie Brownie Halts Yankees; Giants Take Half-Game Lead

By The Canadian Press

Rookie Ned Garver halted the Yankees' winning streak at four yesterday as he gave St. Louis Browns a 5-3 victory with a great exhibition of clutch pitching.

Tapped for 11 safeties, including homers by Joe Gordon and Phil Rizzuto, Garver bore down with men on base to snap a six-game Brownie losing streak.

Homers by Catcher Les Moss and outfielder Paul Lehner powered the St. Louis attack. The defeat cost the Yanks a chance to move past Philadelphia Athletics into second place in the American League race.

A big day at the plate by Outfielder Jim Russell and a flock of Chicago errors enabled Boston Braves to down the Cubs, 8-4. The Braves were held to seven hits, but they included two homers and a pair of doubles by Russell, good for five tallies.

Five pitchers for the Cubs and a homer by Boston catcher Phil Masi set up the game.

New York Giants stopped St. Louis Cardinals to take a half-game lead in the senior loop race. Then they bombed Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-4, on the Cardinals' loss, a 5-1 verdict to Philadelphia Phillies.

Home runs by Bobby Thomson and Monte Irvin helped the Giants make absentee, highlighted the Giant attack as the New Yorkers scored two runs in the last three innings.

The Cards were handcuffed by Veteran Dutch Leonard. Stanley Musial's 12th homer of the season was only damaging blow among the five safeties Dutch allowed, while Dick Sisler hammered two four-baggers and Del Rundt got a third for the winners.

Golf May Introduce Rule for Lightning

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 7 (AP)—Players can stop play in case of threatened danger from lightning under a new rule of golf proposed today by the Royal and Ancient Golf Club of St. Andrews.

It was included in a draft of new rules of golf which is being submitted to members of the club and representative and overseas. A final draft will be voted on at a September meeting of the R. and A.

The stymie rule is retained.

Demaret Ends 20 Under Par

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M., June 7 (AP)—Jimmy Demaret clipped five strokes off par for a 67 in the fourth round and 72-hole total of 268 to win $3,000 first money in the Albuquerque open golf tournament yesterday.

The Oak Cliff, sharpshooter breezed some four blows to the good as Stewart Ship-Alexander unleashed a flashy 65 to go with his previous 207 for 272 and second place.

Clayton Haefner slipped to a two-stroke lead after trailing Demaret by a single stroke for two days. This dropped him to fourth with a 72-hole score of 278.

Ahead of him by one stroke was a Dutch: Harrison with 276—66—271.

Demaret had previous rounds of 65, 69 and 67 for the 72-hole total of 268—an even 20 better than par.

Alexander's fine finish enabled him to collect $1,400 second money. Harrison won $1,000 and Haefner pocketed $800.

Beau Jack Given Chance to Hold Title Third Time

PHILADELPHIA, June 7 (AP)—Beau Jack, former Augusta, Ga., schoolboy who twice has been world's lightweight boxing champion, gets a chance to reign for the third time July 19 in a 15-round title go with Champion Ike Williams.

Managers of the two battlers signed articles for the match today. Promoter Herman Taylor said the site—either Shibe Park or Municipal Stadium—would be announced within 48 hours.

Frank Palermo and Frank Palumbo, representing Williams, signed for 37½ per cent of the gate or a $50,000 guarantee, whichever is higher. Chick Wergeles, Jack's pilot, accepted 32½ per cent of the total gate.

While the bout had been rumored for some time, it still came as a surprise to many who doubted Jack would go back to the 135-pound class.

Jack retired as lightweight two years ago to campaign among the welterweights. He was making quite a go of it until February 21, 1947 when he bark on his heels by a technical knockout at the hands of Tony Janiro.

Williams has won 15 straight bouts, including his title-winning TKO score over Bob Montgomery here last August 4. Not since Gene Burton met him in Chicago in January, 1947, has Williams known defeat.

Minor Baseball

J. H. and F. edged Oak Bay Studios, 8-7, in a bantam league baseball game last night. Wes Zaikowsky bombarded with a man on his base in the seventh to produce the winning tally. It was a tough loss for Studios who played their best game of the season.

Chu Eng scored his third straight relief triumph as Pacific Meat nipped Spencers, 6-5, in a midget contest. Eng relieved Allan in the fourth and held the league leaders scoreless. Winners scored twice in the sixth to come from behind for the victory.

Tillicums advanced to within a game of Spencers by trounching Eagles, 15-1. Gary Pynn was the winning pitcher.

Pacific Peak in Southern Arizona is the site of the only battle of the Civil War fought in Arizona.

Australians in Easy Victory On Eve of First Test Match

HOVE, Sussex, June 7 (Reuters)—On the eve of the first test match between England and Australia the tourists scored an easy victory over Sussex here today by an innings and 232 runs. Don Bradman, the Australian captain, scored his fourth century of the tour.

The Australians made 346 for five declared in reply to Sussex's first innings total of 96 and then dismissed the county a second time for 218.

Although the Australians began the day 164 runs ahead, Bradman decided to continue their first innings, presumably to give his men some useful batting practice. Bradman was in his brighteen mood, bowling off almost every ball, and driving and pulling with great power, he hit 30 in just over two hours, and with Arthur Morris put on 189 for the second wicket. Morris made 194 and young Neil Harvey 100 not out.

Only Harry Parks (42) shaped up well in the county's second innings against the fine bowling of Ray Lindwall, who took five wickets for 25 runs.

LONDON, June 7 (Reuters)—Close of play scores in county cricket matches today:

Lancashire (Preston) Nottinghamshire 1st innings 58, second innings 108 (Lancashire 1st innings 164 for 6 declared). Worcestershire (Worcester) Northamptonshire 1st innings and 41 runs. Warwickshire first innings 237, Northamptonshire first innings 172 (Warwickshire 2nd innings 65 for 2). Yorkshire (Leeds) Middlesex 1st innings 108, second innings 141 (Yorkshire 1st innings 285 declared). Essex 1st innings 147, second innings 43 for four wickets. Gloucestershire (Cheltenham) Glamorgan first innings 271 (Gloucestershire 1st innings 32 for no wicket). Derbyshire (Derby) Oxford University 1st innings 118, second innings 122. Somerset first innings 118 (Derbyshire 1st innings 48 for 2). Leicestershire (Leicester) Hampshire first innings 244, second innings 106 (Leicester 1st innings 200). Kent (Canterbury) Sussex 1st innings 96, second innings 218. Glamorgan (Glamorgan) Gloucestershire 1st innings 181. Kent second innings 182 for three wickets. Cambridge University 1st innings 172, second innings 112. Warwickshire first innings 144.

Dozen Americans Will Compete In British Open

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland, June 7 (AP)—Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, British and Canadian amateur champion, and a dozen other Americans will bid for the British open golf championship at St. Andrews starting June 28.

The Royal and Ancient Club said tonight after the entry lists closed that 294 golfers would compete.

Stranahan, winner of the British amateur championship ten days ago and an entry in the United States open which begins next Thursday, is trying in repeat. Bobby Jones' 1930 grand slam—winning the British and United States open and amateur championships. He was runner-up in the British open last year.

Eight professionals, including Johnny Bulla, runner-up in 1939 and 1946, are included among the United States entries. Others are Lawson Little, Tommy Armour, Claude Harmon, Jimmy Thompson, Bobby Cruickshank, Ross Thomson and Arthur Clark.

Davies Tosses One-Hitter As Eagles Win

Pirates and Nex	2	6	.286
Boosters	1	6	.143

vs. Pirates and Nex, Macdonald Park, 7:00 p.m.

Veteran Elan Davies tossed a one-hitter last night as the Eagles trounced Boosters, 14-3, in a senior amateur baseball contest at Macdonald Park. Although still bothered by control trouble, Davies allowed a lone scratch blow down the third base line, which with three straight walks, produced one run in the sixth innings.

Four consecutive bases on balls gave the losers their first tally in the second, and Carson's error and two fielders' choices accounted for the final marker.

Walks also played a big part in the Eagle run scoring. The Aerie garnered eight hits and eight bases on balls from the offerings of doubtfuls Art Worth in five innings to build up a commanding 11-1 lead. Moffat finished up allowing three runs in the final inning.

Eagles	301	100	03—14
Boosters	010	001	01—

Batteries: Davies and Carson; Worth, Moffat (5) and Harford.

It was the second loss in two days for the youthful Boosters nine. On Sunday they dropped a 14-4 decision to the league leading Sea's Bombers.

It was announced last night that Saturday's contest between Bombers and Eagles was postponed, not defaulted as previously announced.

Coast Puckesters In Affiliation With Other Loops

MONTREAL, June 7 (CP)—The Pacific Coast Hockey League yesterday took its place alongside the National, American and United States Leagues when an affiliation agreement was completed which means the West Coast circuit is a full-fledged professional organization.

President Al Leader of the P.C.H.L. met with Clarence Campbell president of the National Hockey League and representatives of the other two pro leagues to draw up the agreement.

Leader said after today's session that the agreement was satisfactorily to all concerned.

There are 10 clubs in the P.C.H.L. Vancouver, New Westminster, Seattle, Tacoma and Portland form the northern division, with Oakland, San Francisco, Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego in the southern division.

Hockey Loops Redraft Rules

MONTREAL, June 7 (CP)—Representatives of three professional Hockey Leagues and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association met rules acceptable to all the bodies.

One of the most important changes was provision of a penalty for a goalkeeper who leaves his net to protest a decision. Even if he is a team captain or alternate captain he will not be allowed to wander about the ice protesting.

In the pro ranks an automatic fine of $50 will be imposed, in amateur play the offending goalie will be given a minor penalty.

The rule-makers also decided that any goalie dropping a puck on top of the net to stop play will be given a minor penalty.

Provision for an extra player made by the N.H.L. rules committee at the annual meeting last week will not apply in amateur leagues. The pros now can dress 18 men exclusives of goalie.

Thacker Takes Glenlyon Title

Senior school championship was captured by Thacker I with 13 points at the annual sports held by Glenlyon School over the week-end. The grounds of the school were thronged with parents, friends and old boys, who enjoyed a splendid program.

Thacker II was a close second to Thacker in the senior section with a total of 12 points. Clarke I with a possible 15 points gained the intermediate under 16 championship. Hughes was runner-up with seven. Knox was successful in the junior (under 15) championship, gaining 11 points. Denny scoring nine and Ulrich seven. Senior relay was won by Sherratt's team; junior relay by Simpson's team.

Cups for the cross-country run held earlier were presented to Sherratt, senior winner and to Barton-Gould, junior. Of special interest was the announcement that the school captured the inter-school junior track shield in a meet held at Oak Bay High School earlier in the week.

CINCINNATI, June 7 (AP)—Gene Mauch, Brooklyn utility infielder, today was claimed by Chicago Cubs for the waiver price of $10,000.

The move was made by the Dodger roster to 24 players and opens the way for a match pitcher to the staff.

Suffers Broken Leg

BIRMINGHAM England, June 7 (AP)—Harry Carr, jockey for the Royal Stable, suffered a broken leg today when his mount, Monjon, Humner, 31?, respectively. B. Brierley of Ladysmith captured the low scorer honors for out-of-town players with a 68.

followed by Billy McColl's 72.

MYSTERY HOUSE

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

Page set back. "You're right, Rip said quietly in a weak little voice. "I'm in a precious position I'm on the spot. Exhausted" she repeated his word after a pause. "You mean they are going to dig up dear Trudy Mockber's body?"

"Without informing the family that they mean to do it," the man answered. "In fact, she buried—or they thought she buried—her husband."

"Yes, I believe so. I know an friend thought he was buried on the place. But Lynn told me Hoffmann Bay. But what what would they expect to find?"

"Poison," Barnes answered briefly.

"Poison. They can't think that Mrs. Prendergast would poison her oldest friend, her only friend! Why not another one?"

Page asked her companion sensibly. "This Belmont doctor doesn't really think she died?"

"He thinks there was something queer. This Doctor Harwood you describe, could he have had any interest in getting the old girl out of the way?"

"Why, no! He didn't even show up at all until after Trudy Mockber died."

"This other man—the island—what about him? Could he be an arsenic or strychnine poisoner?"

"Funny! He is—in a way. Old Hoffmann was a Swedish chemist, and he's a gentleman—that is, in manners and voice and being considerate—yes, he's much more of a gentleman, really, than old Mrs. Prendergast. But—why do you know what I mean? She's just a sort of a coarse, good-natured woman who became immensely rich without ever being really educated or fine and Flora—poor Flora's not a lady, you couldn't call her a lady."

"But Lynn has something—something fine. Only he's like a person asleep all the time. He'll read poetry and Shakespeare, he takes long cramps along the shore and he goes out to the island rock, and all the while you feel that he really is asleep, that he doesn't know quite what's going on. As for the diamond Lynn has it and hides it hidden from Mrs. Prendergast. But he wouldn't poison anyone. You'd only have to see him to know that!"

"I didn't like the Belmont suspicion," Barnes said, scowling thoughtfully. "Now you tell me about this diamond complication! There's some way of tying Trudy Mockber and this little and the diamond together—you mark my words!"

"The diamond is safe enough," Page said comfortably.

"Safe! You mean that this half-witted, irresponsible boy is wandering about with the Prendergast diamond! I can tell you that Fred Hibbs and his wife wouldn't consider it safe! After all, they're the old girl's only heirs. How did this Lynn get it?"

"They don't know. They think that perhaps Trudy Mockber got possession of it in some way, and he gave it to him when she was dying."

"He might be the Mockber woman's son?"

"That would make him Flora Mockber's brother, or half-brother. Surely Flora's admit it. As it is, she seems half afraid of him."

"Ha!" Barnes Banop said, musing. "If Mrs Hibbs went down there to see her aunt, d'you think the old lady would see her?"

"I think," Page said, after consideration, "I might talk her into it! I'd put it in her that she was going away to Connecticut, and mightn't have another chance to see her niece."

"She wants to go to Connecticut, I would be terribly sorry if she dow ehe?" And the Hibbsses are further away from getting pin touch with her than ever."

CHAPTER XI

"Well if she doesn't want to see them!" Page said, pointedly.

"Yes, yakkum. Bishop Barnes" replied. "But it looks to me as if all this crowd had gotten round old Mrs. Prendergast and were going to stick until they get something out of it. What are they going to do? Ah-settle down with her in Connecticut? Look here, I'll tell you", H. Mrs Hibbs makes up her mind that she's got to see her aunt. Its now 'ow. Would some one rile up get the wife first?

"I would be telephoned. And if I hadn't prepared the way she might be furious."

"Ha, that won't do then! I'd work out a cipher with you. What could I say?"

"Say, 'This is Ellinor Cass you possibly get in for engagement shower for Betty on Monday?'

"You're getting the idea," the man said approvingly. And listen, Mrs. Hicksbee's grave will be what ll wa call it? We'll mean the grave where we say Betty's house. And look here, if ever you act scared down there," Barnes added, "if there's ever danger say 'say, ginger-bread.' That's easy to remember because it has 'danger' in it."

"How could I possibly put 'ginger-bread' into a message?" Page asked, laughing.

"A, for the angry-tired-tricky the man answered resourcefully.

"Perhaps we could take Rand into our confidence? He has tremendous influence with her. He's naturally rather against her family. Page said. "He thinks they're all rather threats he doesn't talked about her as if all they wanted was for her to die and leave them her money. Her sister went years ago and wanted to borrow money when she married the dream, or whatever it was and that made her furious. And then there was something about a letter. I don't know what it was. But, aha! wait, or else she wasn't sick and Mrs. Hibbs wired that if Aunt Minnie was so ill she'd come at once and that got her mad. She is touchy. I'll admit that—

"And mean like you are a wonderful person to have in the case," Barnes Bishop said thoughtfully as he rose.

"Oh, heavenly! Page reclaimed.

"I mean it. I think you are one of the most interesting girls I ever knew. Mac mentioned you to me.

"You don't know me at all," Page said. "We've only seen each other once.

"Once is enough—the boy said quickly, with his pleasant flashing smile.

Life could be exciting and satisfying and all pleasant. Page thought, yesterday. Rand, the fair voice telling her that he loved her, it was hopeless, nothing could come of it but yet he loved her.

Now here was another man telling her that she had somehow gained in charm during this bad strange month. Barnes Bishop, she was the same person she was a fine old firm and who was sure too! It was great fun to sit here discussing the Prendergast mystery with him.

"Doctor Harwood it straight, you think" he asked me.

"Well," the girl said hesitatingly, "he's kind of a strange old man, and he's a gentleman—that is, in manners and voice and being considerate—yes, he's much more of a gentleman, really, than old Mrs. Prendergast. Victoria Businessmen Welcome Predicted End to "Differential"

Victoria businessmen are elated over possible abolition of the unpopular "mountain differential" on railway freight rates.

Thursday, R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, predicted that British Columbia's application before the Board of Transport Commissioners to have the controversial levy wiped out would be granted.

The differential adds 25 per cent to Prairie rail freight rates. Recently 21 per cent increases were granted, although some firms in Victoria who import goods from the Prairies and Eastern Canada have not yet added the price increase to their products.

Yesterday a survey of local manufacturers and wholesalers showed that equality of treatment between East and West on freight rates would be gratifying.

Walter S. Mills, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said that he disliked seeing discrimination against Victoria. He condemned the difference in treatment accorded shippers in British Columbia and the East, and stated that he wanted to see fair and equal treatment for the Pacific Coast.

Most heavily affected industry in the city is shipbuilding. Other businesses using large quantities of steel and obliged to import heavy machinery into the province are similarly affected.

"It will certainly help us if anything can be done to reduce the cost of steel," R. W. Isard, manager of Yarrows, stated yesterday, adding that he thought Mr. Mayhew would do all he could in the interests of the province.

One representative of a large Canadian meat packing plant, asked if abolition of the mountain differential would affect the price of meat, replied that shipping charges to Vancouver Island would be reduced. With such reductions in the past, he said, there has been a tendency for the price to go down.

New industries would receive the greatest impetus from equalization of freight rates and reduction or wiping out of the differential.

Philip Pleming, manager of Felt and Textiles of Canada, believes the equalization of rates would be "helpful" to Western industry.

He said any reduction would be of tremendous assistance to the new industry.

Scholarship Offered For Indian Art

The seventh annual exhibition of Indian arts and crafts in the Provincial Museum will be opened at 8 p.m. today by Col. F. T. Fairey, deputy minister of education.

Indian Arts and Welfare Society will continue until June 19. It will be open to the public, free of charge.

A memorial scholarship of $100 will be awarded for the painting judged best in the show.

The major exhibit will come from Port Alberni Indian Residential School. It will include paintings, leather work, carving and embroidery. Seven pupils and George Sinclair, their art instructor, will be entertained to lunch at the Wishbone Grill by Mrs. J. E. Goodman, convener.

Schools represented will include Songhees Indian Day School, Victoria; Inkaneep School; and St. George's Day School, Lytton.

Original black and white sketches by Sis-hulk, used as illustrations in the booklet "Tale of the Nativity," and original illustrations for the booklet "Mrs. Mr. Coyote," by pupils of Noel Stewart at St. George's Day School, will be shown.

Also shown will be work done by Inkaneep pupils of Anthony Welsh, board teacher and interpreter of Indian lore.

FLOOD VICTIMS'

GREATEST NEED STILL AHEAD

When stricken families leave temporary shelter to return to damaged homes, their needs become greatest. Houses must be repaired, furniture mended, clothing found . . . and all at once.

The B.C. Flood Emergency Fund, administered by the Red Cross, must help meet these immediate needs before Government rehabilitation takes over.

Without your aid the flood victims will suffer double hardships in this period.

Cadet Rations Boost Ensures Boys Returning Home Hefty

"Teen-aged cadets undergoing their Summer training schedules at Navy, Army and Air Force camps have greatly increased in cadet rations had been heavier appetites than their big brothers in the regular forces, according to cadet officers at the camps.

"They may be just kids," one officer said, "but they look away more food per man than does the Regular Army. They must have hollow legs."

Officers responsible for the feeding of the cadets are determined that youngsters will return to their homes throughout Canada in the "pink" of condition and fourth helping.

Actually, the calorie content of their meals served cadets is higher than those served members of the Active Army. Cadets get more fresh milk and less meat than the grown-up serviceman.

Cadet officers point to the healthy outdoors life enjoyed by the boys during the Summer as the chief reason for their big appetites.

And when the meals are "just like Mother used to make"—and they won't need any coaxing, an officer explained.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"A DROWNING MAN CATCHES AT A STRAW"

This is an old proverb, known to us from recorded literature for three and a half centuries, and doubtless older in common speech.

In the "Contemplations" of Bishop Hall, which date 1612 to 1615, we find the thought expressed in this way:

"The drowning man snatches at every twig."

Not until 1748, however, in Richardson's novel, "Clarissa," does one find the expression recorded just as we use it today:

"A drowning man will catch at a straw," the proverb well says."

And the reference to the proverbial standing indicates that in the interval since Bishop Hall's expression, the saying had circulation in the people's speech.

"The drowning man" is a familiar modern metaphor:

"You fool, why do you catch at a straw?" calm good sense says to the man that is drowning."

Insect Control In Northland To Be Studied

There may be relief in static for hard-bitten residents and travellers in Canada's mosquito belt.

Defence Research Board announced at Ottawa recently that eight field parties are moving into the Canadian North to investigate methods of control. Laboratory research will be carried out at the same time in Fort Churchill.

Defence Research Board and the Dominion Department of Agriculture plan to compile complete information on many types of mosquitos, black flies, and deer flies which bring misery through northland summers.

The two-or-three-man survey parties will be under control of Dr. T. N. Freeman, Ottawa. They will operate on the Alaska Highway, the Mackenzie River Delta, Southampton Island, Goose Bay, Ungava Bay, Frobisher Bay, and in the region of the new Quebec-Labrador iron mines. Students and faculty members from seven universities will take part.

OBSERVE HABITS

In the barren lands, insects move in 10 to 20 miles, and spraying has been ineffective, because new hordes move in after sa area is cleared. A planned entomological map of the whole north country will show insect problems of each area.

Long-range projects include spraying of now to kill insects when the snow comes. Toxicity of insers and possibility of natural and artificial immunity will be investigated.

Last year a knot check at Port Churchill identified ten biting types and various non-biting types of mosquitoes, 13 species of black flies and eight species of sand flies.

The check also established a point long suspected by Northland veterans, "the battle of the bites." Scientists will be noted that the peak occurs around some seasons in Vancouver on June the clock in shifts, one type swarms 18. It was learned yesterday"

Royal Society To Convene Here

Men distinguished in arts, letters and science will come to Victoria from as far away as the East Coast on June 14 to attend annual meetings of the Royal Society of Canada.

Members of the Royal Society, Canadian Historical Society and the Canadian Political Science Association will attend a joint luncheon in when another type retires for rest.
